KY TO BE BEHIND SCENES . . .

Viet Delegates Going In Days

Saigon (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu announced Wednesday South Vietnam will send a delegation to the Paris talks within 10 days, but begged his people to be wary and continue the struggle because fighting would continue in Vietnam.

"Talks with the Communists do not mean peace will be restored soon," Thieu said in a nationwide telvision and radio address. "They will fight while they are talking and talk while they are fighting."

He spoke 12 hours after Saigon announced the end of its boycott of the talks.

Ky Paris-Bound

Thieu promised to disclose in a few days the makeup of a delegation of seven or eight chief members to take seats at the Paris table, supported by many others, including a Saigon-Paris liaison team. He said Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky would go to Paris, though not actually to sit in on the negotiations.

The president said Ky "is the man I rely on to lead the delegation to Paris, but he is not the chief of the delegation. His role will be to coordinate and advise the delegation itself."

The United States expects it will be late next month before preliminary procedural matters, perhaps troublesome, can be settled and serious talks can begin. President Johnson, in Texas, saw the Saigon announcement as a "new and hopeful phase in the negotiations," but cautioned that "we must expect both hard bargaining and hard fighting in the days ahead."

As Test

Saigon announced it was "prepared to participate in the new talks in Paris with the Hanoi delegation to show the good will of the Republic of Vietnam and to test the good faith of Hanoi."

But it added "we will regard and treat all the persons on the other side of the table as a single side, that of Hanoi, and for practical purposes as a single delegation."

The United States, too, made clear again it would not recognize the Viet Cong National Liberation Front.

VC Activity Up

Thieu spoke against a background of stepped up Viet Cong political activity in the South. Police sources said Wednesday they had rounded up and arrested 85 Viet Cong political workers in a drive to crush an emerging Communist political apparatus in the capital.

The front is known to be trying to create a grass roots government across South Vietnam, possibly anticipating an end to the war. U.S. sources have confirmed that a quasi-government structure already exists in five provinces and more than 1,000 villages and hamlets.

Thieu also said a coalition would encourage Communists to extend aggression to other countries, like Thailand.

Reds Agree To Broader Paris Talks

Paris (UPI) — North Vietnam and the Viet Cong agreed Wednesday with loud protests to attend the "peace conference of ghosts" with the United States and South Vietnam. But Hanoi issued a second sharp protest that U.S. bombers attacked its territory in violation of the bombing halt.

Their agreement ensured an early start to the expanded talks on Vietnam, possibly one day next week. Hanoi soured the agreement quickly by accusing U.S. commanders of sending bombers into the North Monday and Tuesday.

A North Vietnamese spokesman said the Hanoi delegation's No. 2 negotiator, Col. Ha Van Lau, met secretly for more than an hour Wednesday with U.S. deputy delegation chief Cyrus Vance. It was the first confirmed meeting between Hanoi and Washington since Saigon announced an end to its boycott early Wednesday.

The spokesman said Lau protested to Vance that U.S. bombers struck the northern provinces of Nghe and Quang Dinh both Monday and Tuesday.

The raids "were counter to the engagements taken by the United States to unconditionally cease bombings," he said. Hanoi made its first accusation of such U.S. raids Tuesday.

Spokesmen in Paris for the Hanoi delegation and that of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front announced separately they would take part in the expanded negotiations. Each strongly denounced the Washington announcement that the allies would regard the talks as "two-way" affairs with no recognition of the NLF as a separate bargaining unit.

October Rise Biggest Since September '62

. . . PACE OF ECONOMY HASN'T SLOWED

New York Times Service

Washington — Consumer prices rose six-tenths of one per cent in October, the biggest monthly jump during the current spell of inflation, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Wednesday.

The last time there was so large a rise for a month in the consumer price index was in September 1962.

More important than a one-month movement, the results for 1968 to date now make clear that the price rise will be close to 4.5% for the year, much the largest since 1951, the first full year of the Korean War.

It Takes $122.90

The index for October was 122.9, with average prices in 1957-59 taken as 100. Thus goods and services costing $100 in the base period now costs $122.90.

Wednesday's report followed an election-eve announcement by Arthur M. Okun, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, that "we have turned the corner toward price stability." The report followed two months of slackened price increase — August and September.

Judging from October, the rate of price increase has not yet slowed. Furthermore, the same is true for the pace of the economy, in which the general boom is the counterpart of the rise in prices.

Little Slackening

Recent economic indicators, including those that normally move in advance of the general economy, have showed little slackening of the boom, five months after passage of a tax surcharge and a government spending curb aimed at taking some of the steam out of business and checking inflationary pressure.

The closely watched wholesale price index gave mixed signals Wednesday.

The key index for all "industrials" — items other than farm products and processed foods — jumped by the disturbingly large amount of five-tenths of one per cent in October, the biggest since February. But the preliminary estimate for November showed a much smaller increase of one-tenth of one per cent.

Farm-Food Sector

The over-all wholesale index is influenced by volatile movements in the farm-food sector of the economy. It showed no rise for October, at 109.1, as farm prices dipped, but it rose to 109.5 in November on the basis of preliminary figures.

On the consumer price front, October saw a broad range of increases, led by automobiles and apparel. Apparel has turned out, along with medical care, to have been a major factor in this year's large price increase.

Food prices rose on the average in October, contrary to seasonal expectations. Eggs, dairy products and some fresh vegetables led the increase.

BOY GIVES POLICE 'REAL STRUGGLE'

A 14-year-old Boys' Detention Hall inmate was taken into custody Wednesday after a "real struggle" with the arresting officers, police said.

The boy, being held in connection with stolen car and burglary charges, escaped from the institution Tuesday night, after shoving a matron and fleeing barefooted, said Lt. Gail Gade, juvenile division officer.

Police received a tip, regarding the youth's whereabouts, at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday and three officers were detailed to the residence at 1655 Harwood.

The youth was found with three companions in the basement of the home and attempted to flee when another boy identified him as the escapee.

Officers struggled with the boy for about 15 minutes in attempting to subdue him, and during the struggle the boy managed to obtain a police revolver from Officer Alfred Kelly. Kelly said it was not determined whether the gun was taken from his holster or if the boy had picked it up from the floor after it had dropped from the holster.

Officers said the youth struck Det. Delmar Carlson on the forehead with the weapon and that he had apparently tried to fire the gun.

The boy was finally subdued after one of the officers used chemical Mace, said Det. Roe Heston.

More Than 150 Adults Are Full-Time Students

. . . IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS ADULT EDUCATION DIVISION

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Although most of them are high school graduates, there are more than 150 adults going to school full-time in the Lincoln Public Schools.

The men and women, of all ages, many of them holding part-time jobs, are enrolled in one or two-year post high school courses offered in the Adult Education Division.

In the vocational-technical programs, the Lincolnites are receiving training for such employment as architectural draftsmen, television repairmen, advertising agents, licensed practical nurses, dental assistants and stenographers in addition to related academic courses.

Certificates

Graduates of the training programs receive certificates of satisfactory completion which serves as a recommendation to prospective employers. Almost all of the students also complete requirements for a high school diploma if they did not have it when they started, according to Robert Law, industrial arts coordinator.

The six post high school programs might have been offered for associate degree credit if the proposed community junior college had been approved in the November election, Law explained. The programs also would have been eligible for state aid if they were offered with junior college status.

Assistant Supertendent for post high school Dr. James Lightbody has said that according to a recent survey, "80% of the jobs in the Lincoln area require education beyond high school but less than a professional degree."

Nursing Largest

Licensed practical nursing is the largest of the post high school programs with 34 freshmen and 26 seniors in the two-year course. Students pay a one-time tuition fee of $300 and receive all training, including practical experience, required to qualify as a licensed practical nurse.

Mrs. Lauretta Jarnes is in charge of the nursing training.

Both the licensed practical nursing and the dental assistants' courses require that enrollees have a high school diploma, reported Mrs. Irene Korsakas, supervisor of the latter program.

Facilities and equipment, located at the Whittier adult education center, limit the dental assistants' training to 25 students each year. Students pay a $300 tuition fee for the 11-month course and are eligible to take the exam for certified dental assistants.

36 Enrolled

A total of 36 men and women are enrolled in the distributive and business education programs, headed by James Cather and Buford Jones, respectively. The one-year course of clerical training generally provides the first half of the two-year stenographic training.

Retail marketing management courses are designed to provide students with skills for promotion, advertising, sales, purchasing, personnel and office management work. It is also a two-year course.

Except for the health-related occupational training, the school district charges tuition of $84 per quarter or $336 per year.

Three women are among the 22 students in the two-year drafting program.

Instruction ranging from simple electrical circuits to computer technology is offered in the post high school electronics class.

Law coordinates both the drafting and electronics programs which meet at night in East High laboratory facilities. All of the other post high school programs are 9 a.m.-4 p.m. courses.

In some of the educational programs, provision for field experience helps students get placed in part-time jobs even before they graduate.

Physicians Report Ike 'Can Walk Unassisted'

Washington (AP) — Army doctors reported Wednesday that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is "able to walk a short distance unassisted" as he continues to make "slow but steady progress" from his latest heart attack.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital here also reported, in answer to queries, that Eisenhower will be served a "somewhat modified turkey dinner" on Thanksgiving Day when President-elect Richard Nixon and his family plan to visit him.

The Nixons, Mrs. Eisenhower and other family members and guests of the general will not be at the same table with their host, however. They will receive the same menu as all the patients at the hospital.

Eisenhower is recovering from a series of heart attacks. He suffered the latest in mid-August, while he was a patient at the hospital. In all, he has been stricken seven times.

In answer to a query as to whether there is "any anticipated date for Gen. Eisenhower's release from the hopsital," the doctors replied simply, "No."

In a formal medical bulletin on the five-star general's condition, the doctors said:

"Gen. Eisenhower continues to show slow but steady progress. As stated in the medical bulletin of Oct. 14, 1968, the serious nature of his heart disease has necessitated careful control of his activity.

"Medications to suppress irregular beating of the heart continue to be effective, at a lower dosage. His morale and spirits remain high."

THE DAY JFK WAS SHOT:

Gov. Connally Knew The Sound

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth installment of the exclusive serialization of Jim Bishop's The Day JFK Was Shot.)

By JIM BISHOP

In the jump seat of the President's car, Governor John Connally, a hunter, knew the sound. The expression under the pale cowboy hat changed to open-mouthed disbelief. His mouth formed words not yet on his tongue: "Oh, no, no, no," as his head swung to the left to see the President.

Agent Roy Kellerman, in the front seat, thought he heard Kennedy speak and turned to see both hands coming up toward the face. He ordered the Secret Service driver, William Greer: "Let's get out of here!" Perhaps three seconds had elapsed since the first shot from the 6th floor window of the Texas School Book Depository. Mrs. Kennedy, disturbed by the sudden sound, looked toward her husband. His eyes sought hers in a daze.

The man in the window had the target plainer now. In the four-power telescopic sight fixed upon the Mannlicher-Carcano military model, Kennedy was about eighty-five feet away.

This time the trigger was squeezed more steadily.

The bullet, aimed diagonally downward, went through the clothing between the bottom of the neck and the right shoulder. It separated the strap muscles, cut through the trachea into sunlight, drilled into Governor Connally's back, came out the front of the rib cage to shatter itself against his raised right wrist and deflect downward to furrow the left thigh and became inert against his leg.

The Governor had a sensation of being punched in the back. President Kennedy struggled to clutch his throat. With the hole now there it is doubtful that he could have uttered an articulate sound.

Rufus Youngblood rose from the front seat of the car second from the President's, yelling, "Get down!" He shoved Vice President Johnson's right shoulder over toward Mrs. Johnson and Senator Ralph Yarborough, then jumped up high enough to sit down on his man.

Mrs. Kennedy, seeing the agony on her husband's face,

New York Times News Summary

Ky Will 'Oversee' Saigon Delegation In Paris

(c) New York Times News Service

Saigon — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam said Wednesday that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, his chief political rival, would go to Paris to "oversee and control" the activities of the Saigon delegation to the peace negotiations. Speaking to his nation over radio and television, the president said that a Saigon delegation would participate in the talks "within the next 10 days." But he warned the South Vietnamese people not to believe in the "illusion" of an early peace. (More on Page 1).

Mediterranean Right Asserted

Moscow — Pravda, the Communist Party newspaper, said that the Soviet Union had an "historical, economic and geographical" claim to be a Mediterranean power and that the Soviet navy is there to protect that claim. The article was a reply to official Western statements expressing concern over the Soviet naval buildup in the wake of the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

U.S. Ready To Meet Chinese

Washington — The United States reportedly was ready to accept Communist China's offer to meet in Poland next Feb. 20 with representatives of the Nixon administration. (Another story on Page 28.)

Hong Kong Rejects Americans

Hong Kong — British authorities announced that the American cast and crew of the movie "The Chairman" will not be allowed into Hong Kong. Earlier this week Hong Kong's Communist newspapers said that the film, about an American scientist, played by Gregory Peck, who has a tense confrontation with Mao Tse-Tung, was an "insult to Chairman Mao."

Warrant Issued For Cleaver

San Francisco — A fugitive warrant was issued for the arrest of Eldridge Cleaver, the Black Panther leader, after he refused to surrender to authorities as a parole violator. His wife, who said he had vowed that he would not return to prison, said she had "no idea" where he was hiding. (More on Page 41.)

Consumer Price Index Rises

Washington — Consumer prices jumped six-tenths of one per cent in October, the biggest monthly rise in eight years. More important, the consumer price index for 1968 to date makes clear that the price rise will be close to 4.5% for the year. The increase was another signal that the tax increase has not been able to slow the economy. (More on Page 1).

HHH Aims At Party Control

Washington — Vice President Humphrey, the man Nixon defeated for the presidency, is planning to exercise personal control over the Democratic Party's choice of a national committee chairman, a close associate said.

Rockefeller To Stay In Albany

New York — President-elect Nixon reportedly did not ask Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to join his Cabinet. The president-elect did sound out the governor about serving as United States ambassador to the United Nations, but Rockefeller said he'd rather stay in Albany.

Brooke Refuses Cabinet Post

New York — President-elect Nixon reportedly asked Sen. Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., to become secretary of housing and urban development, but the senator said no. Brooke was said to have felt that he could best serve the new administration by remaining in the Senate. (More on Page 2).

GIs Observing Thanksgiving

Saigon (AP) — Comparative quiet settled over the battlefields of South Vietnam Thursday as American GIs began observing Thanksgiving. Their top commander here praised them for keeping military victory out of the enemy's reach.

The sharpest fighting reported the day before Thanksgiving broke out near the Cambodian border north of Saigon, where U.S. air and armored cavalry units said they killed 58 North Vietnamese regulars in a five-hour engagement.

American casualties were eight men wounded, U.S. headquarters said.

Turkey, Trimmings

For the Thanksgiving feast, there was turkey — about 500,000 pounds of it — and dressing and gravy, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie.

All-out efforts were being made to deliver the meal to the most remote field troops and outposts. Helicopters were busy shuttling hot food from base positions, where cooks and their helpers had worked through the night to prepare the banquet.

In fixed mess halls and tents, there were holiday decorations and printed menus that listed everything from the shrimp cocktail start to the assorted candy ending.

In a message to his troops, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, U.S. commander in Vietnam, said: "Each Thanksgiving Day, grateful Americans pause to give thanks for our nation's heritage of abundance and prosperity. Today, we pause momentarily in our quest for an honorable peace, to give thanks to the Almighty for His gift of strength and for enabling us to achieve the great progress we have made in the past year . . .

'As Free Men'

"Let us also give thanks that as free men we have been privileged to give a measure of ourselves in assisting the Vietnamese people against the enemy who would enslave them . . ."

Along the demilitarized zone dividing North and South Vietnam, there were no new reports of clashes.

Russia Appears Committed To Rehabilitation Of North

By TILLMAN DURDIN

Hong Kong — A new agreement for Russian aid to North Vietnam announced in dispatches from Hanoi appeared to represent an extensive Soviet commitment not only for further military equipment to North Vietnam but also for the large scale supply of materials for the rehabilitation of North Vietnam's bomb-blasted industries and communications.

The official Hanoi daily Nhan Dan indicated the new agreement involved the largest Soviet aid package so far to North Vietnam. The paper said the aid deal showed Soviet determination "to constantly increase" Russian support and assistance to the North Vietnamese.

A North Vietnamese-Russian communique released from Hanoi said the new aid agreement covering assistance for 1969 provided for large quantities of food, fuel, transport means, complete equipment, steel and ferrous metals, chemical fertilizers, weapons, ammunition and other equipment and material necessary for the defense and the development of the economy.

Emphasis in the communique seemed directed at economic aid, and the reference to transport means, complete equipment, steel and ferrous metals pointed to the reconstruction of railways, highway bridges, factories and ports blasted by American bombing.

The character of the aid could represent confidence on the part of both the North Vietnamese and the Soviets that rebuilding of factories and communications can now be undertaken without fear of renewed U.S. air attacks.

U.S. Rejects Soviet Union's Protest On Mediterranean Air Surveillance

Washington (AP) — The United States has rejected a Soviet protest over the formation of a new North Atlantic Treaty Organization command with headquarters in Naples to coordinate air surveillance of the Mediterranean Sea.

The State Department announced the rejection Wednesday night.

The Soviet protest, delivered orally Nov. 18 by Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, charged that the new NATO operation "is a violation of international standards and increases tension in the Mediterranean."

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach replied for the United States four days later.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said Katzenbach "pointed out that recent precautionary steps by NATO countries in the Mediterranean are the direct result of developments which have serious implications for their security, including the steady increase of Soviet military activities throughout the Mediterranean area."

IT WASN'T ASTHMA

Janet Young, 16, of Boise, Idaho, was treated five years for what was thought to be asthma. Now she has been released from Denver's National Jewish Hospital where doctors removed a plastic flower from her windpipe. The lily of the valley had been causing her coughing and wheezing since she accidentally swallowed it. Janet was breathing normally when she left for Boise.

Agnew Looks Forward To An 'Expanded Role'

New York (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon met with Spiro T. Agnew Wednesday for the first time in nearly three weeks and assured him he would play an "expanded role" in the new administration.

Agnew, who will resign as governor of Maryland before the inauguration, will head liaison with state governors and also handle unspecified duties in foreign relations, the vice president-elect told newsmen following an hour's meeting at Nixon's Hotel Pierre headquarters.

Agnew said newspaper reports that he was disappointed at not being asked to take a more active role in government planning were "not true."

"I have talked with Mr. Nixon at least every other day," Agnew said. "I am exhilarated rather than dismayed at the enlarged scope of the vice president's duties."

Agnew said he would spend about half his time between now and the inauguration Jan. 20 helping to screen Cabinet appointments and planning government programs.

Agnew said that while details of his duties would be disclosed later by Nixon, he could say generally that "I will have primary liaison responsibilities with the state governors" and "will have duties in foreign relations also."

Nixon had a full day of sessions with top Republican leaders and close advisers. He met for more than an hour with former Ambassador Robert D. Murphy, his chief contact with the Johnson administration, and was reported "encouraged and pleased" by the decision of the Saigon government to join the Paris peace talks on Vietnam.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke of Massachusetts met with Nixon and indicated he had been offered a Cabinet job. But he said he could better serve the nation and Nixon in the Senate.

Nixon's press spokesman also disclosed that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told Nixon in a private meeting that he was not available for a Cabinet job and would remain the New York governor.

Filipino's Advice Sought By Nixon

New York (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon has asked President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines to come forth at once with suggestions on policy planning in Southeast Asia to help the incoming administration draft its course on Vietnam and Communist China.

Water Plan, Legislation To Hold Meet Spotlight

Holdrege (AP) — The Nebraska state water plan and the outlook for new water legislation in 1969 will hold the spotlight at the joint meeting of Nebraska irrigation and reclamation associations in North Platte Dec. 4-6.

Ted Johnson, Holdrege, president of the Nebraska State Irrigation Association, said the state water plan could result in a complete change in the way water is handled on state and local levels.

He said legislation already is under consideration which would reorganize agencies on the local level, giving irrigation districts more authority than simply irrigation.

State Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, chairman of the Legislative study committee on ground and surface water, will present an outlook report on legislation possible in the next session of the Nebraska unicameral.

Multi-Purpose Districts

Warren Fairchild, executive director of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission, will give a slide presentation on multi-purpose districts as envisioned by the commission and will participate in a panel discussion on the state water plan with Earl Flanagan of Holdrege, a member of the water plan technical committee, and Robert Colson of Gering, who represents the Irrigation Association on the water plan's special representative committee.

Other highlights will include a banquet address by James M. Ingles of Denver, Region 7 director of the Bureau of Reclamation; and a report by Col. W. H. McKenzie III, Omaha District Army engineer.

State Sen. Stanley Matzke of Milford, executive director of the Nebraska Reclamation Association, will address a joint luncheon session Friday.

Stanton Analysis Report Said Result Of 'Windshield Survey'

Stanton (AP) — The chairman of the Stanton Planning Commission, the Rev. Arden Wild, has called a preliminary report by a planning consultant hired by the city the result of a "windshield survey."

'73% Deteriorating'

An analysis by the firm of Clark & Enerson-Olson, Burroughs & Thomsen, of Lincoln, said 73% of the dwellings in the community were deteriorating.

Stanton was named one of the top six communities in the nation in an improvement competition sponsored in 1966 by the National Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

The Rev. Mr. Wild said the term "deteriorating" means to a planning consultant only that the home needs more repair than the ordinary house.

He said the community is putting forth an effort to correct the situation and the Planning Commission will present the City Council a large-scale program this fall on capital improvement including a downtown remodeling program.

Gun Registration Tips Listed

Omaha (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service offered a couple of simple rules of thumb Wednesday to help gun-owners decide whether or not their weapons must be registered under the new federal law.

"A gun that can shoot, or that can be made to shoot, more than one shot with a single pull of the trigger must be registered," the IRS said.

This statement was prefaced by another relatively simple rule:

"Generally speaking, weapons that may be purchased in hardware and sporting good stores need not be registered. This includes rifles, shotguns, pistols and revolvers, including automatic or semi-automatic guns."

In cities registration of pistols and revolvers is required by local ordinance.

In answer to the fear some weapons may be confiscated, the IRS said registrations made through Dec. 1 are confidential.

"The law provides that information or evidence submitted in registering through this period cannot be used against the registrant in any criminal proceeding arising out of a prior or concurrent violation of the law," the IRS said.

Kearney Man New President Of Scout Council

Hastings (AP) — Arnold Ender of Kearney was named president of the Overland Trails Boy Scout Council, which includes about 8,900 scouts and adult scouters in central Nebraska.

He succeeds Dr. Clyde Kleager of Hastings. Vice presidents named are Dave Rosenberg of Hastings, Webb Augustine and Don Diers of Grand Island. Harold Seyler of Grand Island was named treasurer and Gene Murray of Kearney was reelected Scout commissioner.

Don Davison is Scout executive for the council.

Platteview School Addition Okayed

Springfield (AP) — Voters in the Springfield School District have approved a $500,000 bond issue to finance construction of an addition to the Platteview Junior-Senior High School.

The vote in the special election was 379-94.

Block, Bridle Queen Finalists Are Announced

Five University of Nebraska coeds have been selected as finalists for NU Block and Bridle Club queen.

The queen will be crowned at the club's winter dance in February, according to Jerry Leach of Ainsworth, queen contest chairman. Voting for the queen is on the basis of sales of ham.

Proceeds from the sale, which continues through Dec. 24, will finance Block & Bridle Club activities for the coming year, including a scholarship and the group's annual spring livestock tour, Leach said. Last year, club members sold about 2,600 hams.

Queen finalists are Karen Fenster, York; Mary Lee Hunt, Cozad; Susan Joan Klemm, Exeter; Laura Oppegard, 2466 Park Ave., Lincoln; and Carol Slafter, Scottsbluff.

York Will Host Stock Feeders' State Gathering

York (UPI)—The 20 local feeder groups across Nebraska of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association will meet here Dec. 3-4 for their annual state convention.

It will mark the 25th anniversary of this farm organization made up of cattle, hog and sheep feeders.

The first general session will begin at 2 p.m. on Dec. 3 in the ballroom of the McCloud Hotel.

A special convention program has also been arranged for the ladies.

Present officers of the association are Melvin Kuska, Fairmont, president; Ival Lindquist, Wausa, first vice president, and John Klosterman, David City, second vice president. Paul Johnston of Schuyler serves as executive secretary-treasurer.

Summary of Conditions

A fast-moving Pacific front will be over the western portion of Lake Superior, east central Nebraska and southwestern Kansas Thursday morning. An Arctic cold front in south central Canada will drop southward reaching southeastern Wisconsin, northern Iowa, extreme northeastern Nebraska and northwestern South Dakota by Thursday evening and east central Illinois, northeastern Kansas and northwestern Nebraska by Friday morning.

Both fronts will produce only a little cloudiness over the area. With the Arctic air over much of the Nebraska-Iowa area Friday, temperatures will be much colder. Mild temperatures will continue over the area Thursday before the cold air enters the two-state area.

Wilber Girl Presents Gift

Susan Herman of Wilber, Miss Teenage Beatrice, presents a toy to Jennifer Johnson, 4, of Hurst, Tex., during Miss Teenage America pageant week at Fort Worth, Tex. Gifts for the crippled children of Texas, distributed through Easter Seal officers, were taken by all 59 of the national candidates at the pageant to Fort Worth. The new Miss Teenage America will be crowned Saturday night. Miss Herman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Herman of Wilber.

Villarreal Killed In Vietnam War

Omaha (UPI) — SP4 Michael Villarreal, 20, formerly of Omaha, has been reported killed in the Vietnam War.

Funeral services for Villarreal, who was to have been returned stateside in only one week when he was killed, were held here Tuesday with burial in Offutt Air Force Base cemetery.

He had been in the Southeast Asia country for about one year.

Behlen, Wickes Tell Merger Plans

Columbus (AP) — The Wickes Corp. of Saginaw, Mich., and Behlen Manufacturing Co. of Columbus Wednesday jointly announced a tentative merger agreement.

Behlen Company officers said "for several years, it has been our belief that our company could benefit greatly through association with a larger diversified organization."

Wickes Corp. is about 10 times larger than Behlen with sales this year expected to exceed $300 million. The firm has been in business for more than 10 years.

Wickes products include specialized lathes used in fabricating many of the world's automobile, truck and tractor crankshafts. The company is also a major manufacturer of die casting machines and a supplier of graphite, power-metallurgy and carbon products.

Wickes' largest division consists of about 180 retail building supply outlets in 25 states.

Behlen Company and its board will continue as a subsidiary of Wickes. Walter D. Behlen, chairman of the board, will become a director of Wickes Corp.

The Wickes Corp. said it also has agreed to acquire Sequoia Forest Industries, Inc., of Dinuba, Calif.

Sequoia operates sawmills.

Behlen, a manufacturer of agricultural equipment and commercial, industrial and agricultural buildings, has annual sales of about $20 million.

Lincolnites Startled By Siren Blast

Residents of Southeast Lincoln were startled late Wednesday evening by the sound of the Civil Defense warning signal atop Lincoln Southeast High School.

Police investigating the incident said they found no cause for the blast, but they noted that the sirens are tripped by radio signal.

Thus, officials said, an amateur radio operator could possibly set off the siren by accidental transmission on the particular wave length.

The siren blew for a few minutes until a school caretaker could get into the building and turn it off.

Several of the sirens in the Southeast Lincoln area sounded early one morning a few weeks ago, again for no apparent reason.

Richling To Head Office In Omaha For Lincoln Firm

Omaha (AP) — Theodore Richling, who has resigned as U.S. district attorney, effective Jan. 20, said Wednesday he will join the law firm of Nelson, Harding, Leonard and Tate of Lincoln.

Richling will operate a new Omaha office for the firm. The firm will be known as Nelson, Harding, Richling, Leonard and Tate.

Joining the Lincoln firm with Richling will be Thomas Dowd, who has been an assistant to Richling in the district attorney's office.

A TIME FOR Thanksgiving

As we gather around the Thanksgiving table with our loved ones, we pray that every home in America may be blessed with the good things in life: the enjoyment of material needs, the warmth of family affection, and faith in the Creator from Whom all good things come.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It may seem at times like a pretty tough Thanksgiving, figuring out what there is to be thankful for, but that lends all the more importance to the day. If you feel a little burdened down by your own affairs and the difficulties of the world in general, you probably need to consider the other side of things.

If you can't find any thanks in your heart, you are in bad shape. Chances are you are looking for a utopia that will never exist, a situation in which every desire automatically becomes reality.

The price of things is high, of course, and it seems you never have enough money. On the job, it seems that the harder you work the more pressing matters seem to become. Not even the family circle is free of occasional discord and now and then you have an upsetting experience with a friend.

But that is the way life is. What you have to learn is the pleasure in challenge and the rewards of achievement. Most people are unhappy because they have never contemplated the meaning of these two things.

Too many of them want everything to come easily and when it comes that way, they find it unrewarding. It is unrewarding because they have done so little for it. Actually, we ought to be thankful in a lot of respects for the state of affairs in which we live today.

What has happened in the world in the past 10 years is a new awakening to the potential for human dignity that surrounds us. We are concerned about crime, for instance, for two reasons — one, because it is increasing and, two, because a lot of people think there is something that can be done about it.

It is just recently that we have begun to think about what could be done about crime. Until then we contented ourselves with the apprehension and prosecution of the criminal and the business of crime went on in the same old way.

We look at the so-called generation gap, unrest on the campuses and demonstrations against the war and think that things are going to pot. All of these things represent a challenge to us but if we meet that challenge, we are building a better world and that is grounds for being thankful.

There is today greater understanding and hope than there has ever been in the world before the establishment of a civilization dedicated to the freedom and equality of all men. We have come to know a great deal more about the sociological aspects of the human structure in which we live.

In the process of this learning, we have discovered a lot of shortcomings but we have also seen a great unmet need. Having seen the need, the unfulfilled dreams and aspirations of people, we have the opportunity to fully satisfy it.

The war in Vietnam has been a divisive and disturbing thing in our lives but it has stimulated a widespread disenchantment with such means as a settlement of disputes. Some day, perhaps, we will create a climate in which war really is ruled out of all consideration by all parties in our civilization.

What we have to be thankful for is the fact that we are making progress, despite the fact that the terrain is often rocky. If there were no problems in the world, the human race would be standing still and that would really be cause for alarm.

And in our own private lives, the situation is much the same. We may have had to struggle some, but a multitude of rewarding experiences have come our way.

Almost any capable young person automatically goes to college these days as compared to a rather select few who could afford to do so a generation ago. There is want in the land, but the vast majority of us never come close to experiencing it.

And of course, life itself is a blessing that, alone, gives cause for all the thanks that might and should be felt today.

"Small Channel, Isn't It?"

Mansfield Sounds Warning

Democratic Sen. Mike Mansfield has said that President-elect Richard M. Nixon can expect support for policies that "respond to the world today," not as it was when President Eisenhower was in office. He said there can no longer be "an automatic priority for whatever may carry the related hallmarks of internationalism and defense."

Nixon must recognize, said Mansfield, that "the nation is endangered by the accumulation of problems at home."

Without supporting details, of course, one cannot say exactly what kind of future those words portend but it is probably safe to assume that they mean some strong conflicts when Congress convenes in January.

The words are an expression of the continuing demand among a growing number of lawmakers, it seems, for more emphasis on domestic spending and less concern with the military situation throughout the world. The words continue the struggle between funds for Vietnam and funds for fighting poverty at home. They are a continuation of the battle between the hawks and doves.

Generally speaking, Nixon is considered more hawkish and Mansfield is in the dove camp. In hos campaign, Nixon placed emphasis on building a stronger military capacity for the nation, in an effort to "negotiate from strength."

Thus, the battle in January and the months thereafter may focus on two points — the nature and extent of programs for the underprivileged and many other domestic concerns. With his emphasis on private enterprise, Nixon already promises a battle over the nature of things and Mansfield's words are a warning of battle over the extent of our effort.

U.S. No Spendthrift

There is a myth in America to the effect that the U.S. lavishly gives away money to all comers, spending our hard-earned tax dollars for foreign aid as if there were no tomorrow.

It's not true.

The Agency for International Development has released a report from the Organization for Economic Development. The report compares our spending on foreign aid in comparison with other countries — and we come off looking like pinchpennies.

For example, the U.S is seventh in the per cent of national income devoted to official aid. And we are 10th when private and official aid are added together (which indicates we are more generous officially than privately).

On the average, we send a smaller share of our national income as aid than the free world.

Who was first? Portugal, which provided aid to the tune of 2.06 per cent of its national income. We gave .85 per cent. The average was .93 per cent, and countries topping us were Japan, the Netherlands, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and Australia.

Our aid figures do not include military aid, which can hardly be said conducive to helping underdeveloped countries.

In raw figures, of course, we provide more aid than any other country — but then we are more capable of doing so.

The situation was not made any better by the brutal slashes Congress made in the latest round of foreign aid appropriations.

Like all myths, the foreign aid myth can stand inspection once in a while. And in this case it turns out that the U.S. is not the spendthrift everyone seems to think it is.

BOB CONSIDINE

History's Prelude To Day Of Thanks

NEW YORK — "Our harvest being gotten in," our Governor sent four men on fowling, that so we might after a more special manner rejoice together, after we had gathered the fruit of our labours," Edward Winslow got around to writing on December 11, 1621, describing the sedate three-day Pilgrim wing-ding ordered by Gov. William Bradford in the autumn of that year when the odds switched.

"They four in one day killed as much fowl as, with a little help beside, served the Company almost a week. At which time, amongst other recreations, we exercised our arms, many of the Indians coming amongst us, and amongst the rest their greatest king, Massasoit with some 90 men, whom for three days we entertained and feasted.

Edward Winslow didn't write much but what he wrote is a major source of our knowledge of that brave, pious, and thanksgiving band of persecuted British who meant so much to the shaping of a free United States of America. He was born in Droitwich, England, in 1595, moved to Leiden in 1617, joined John Robinson's church. Robinson had fled to Leiden with 100 of his fellow non-conformists, after a brief exile in Amsterdam. At Leiden his congregation grew to 300. In effect, he had been de-frocked for not going along with King James I, Elizabeth's successor's, ideas on church reform.

The heat stayed on John Robinson. By 1617 it became so intolerable that he looked around for a haven in which he and his followers could find true freedom of worship without governmental restriction. Agreeing on such a safe harbor took three years. Then in July of 1620 the "Speedwell" sailed with part of his congregation to Plymouth, England, and there 35 of the Pilgrims boarded a blundering ship named "Mayflower."

Edward Winslow's wife, Elizabeth Barker, lived just long enough to survive the gruelling passage. In May of 1621 he married another passenger, Susanna White, whose baby (Peregrine) was the first white child born in New England.

Massasoit had to be quite a fellow. He was king (chief) of the Wampanoag tribe. It numbered about 3,000 and had been decimated by yellow fever. He had an English-speaking foreign minister named Samoset who fronted for him and arranged the pow-wow which Winslow was to describe. Relations improved even more when Winslow journeyed to Massasoit's teepee in 1623 to cure him of some undefined fever. Massasoit was so grateful that he informed Winslow that another tribe was about to descend on the Pilgrims and appropriate their scalps.

Thanksgiving Day was not an instant success. It took nine years for the Massachusetts Bay Colony to observe it officially — and the fathers there chose July 8 as a proper date for the feasting. Connecticut took up the practice in 1649. George Washington set Nov. 26, 1789 as a day of thanksgiving, but it didn't take.

Matter of fact, the firmest mover of the consecrated day was Mrs. Sarah J. Hale, early 19th Century editor of Godey's Lady's Book, a well-read and circulated women's magazine published in Philadelphia. It swung President Lincoln's decision to proclaim Nov. 26, 1863, a day of national thanksgiving.

Red Pressure Unseen But Sensed In Prague; Term 'Invasion' Disdained For 'Fraternal Aid'

PRAGUE — There is an eerie feeling in Prague 13 weeks after the Soviet invasion. Nothing has been absolutely lost, but the fear of the unknown and the unseen is very real.

What is particularly eerie about this is that the Red army is practically invisible in the capital. Even flying in here from Moscow, not an identifiable Soviet official in sight: nothing but a plane full of beefy characters wolfing cold cuts and beer for breakfast.

It is almost easy to forget the main thing that happened here, namely, that the Soviet Union invaded this allied country and kidnaped its government. Prague is still a museum. It is full of music and spectacular spires and blinking lights on the great hill above the Vltava. It has been a capital here for a thousand years, and many of its ancient buildings are being redecorated, as if in celebration of some glorious liberation, and you have to hunt the city before you find a couple of Soviet weapons carriers in an obscure square in the old town.

But you have a feeling that a mischievous boy setting off a string of firecrackers down any dark alley would suddenly produce a forest of Soviet guns on every rooftop in sight.

This is nonsense, of course, but it says something about the intimidating influence of the Soviet Union upon its smaller neighbors — and the anxiety about the invisible and unknown here is not nonsense. The Czechs have awakened and angered the bear and he is still prowling somewhere out of sight.

The contrast and contradictions here are startling. The newspapers and news broadcasts come in regularly from the West without official interference. The 10th Century Prague Cathedral, standing high above the river in what must be the most beautiful silhouette of any capital of northern Europe, was alive with people of every age last Sunday and full of the glorious hymns of a more believing age.

The Western correspondents send their copy abroad uncensored and sit around in the snakepit of the Alcron Hotel trading rumors about what will happen next, and a lovely old man drives the Alcron elevator and has plastered its walls with pictures of Tomas Masaryk and Alexander Dubcek and the other Czech freedom fighters.

The Prague papers are neither quite free nor quite enslaved. A publication that was printed on a government press was suspended the other day and got an apology when it threatened to take the government into court. So there are still a lot of brave men around and they are proving that all is certainly not lost.

But others have got into trouble for quoting Lenin against his present successors in the Kremlin, and a lot of them seem to sit around wondering what the next limitation of their freedom will be and who will give the order for the Russians, and who will pass the order and convey it to the press with the sanction or acquiescence of the present Czech leaders.

Even certain words are important to this new relationship between the Slavic allies. The Russians did not "invade" Czechoslovakia, and this is certainly not an "occupation."

They are here, according to the approved hypocrisy, providing "fraternal aid," and the man who directs this "fraternal aid" is Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who is even more invisible than the Red army.

Sometimes he is here, it is said, and sometimes he is in Moscow. The word is that he is more intelligent and reasonable than most, whatever that means.

A Fine Dinner

Lincoln, Neb.

This is from the tales my father, the late Jefferson Faulkner Smith, a great story-teller, told my sisters, brothers and myself.

"Well, it was just about Thanksgiving Day and we didn't feel we had much to be thankful for. I didn't have any shells for my gun but decided to go into the woods to see what I could find for Thanksgiving dinner.

"I waded into the water to cross a creek and my pants filled up with fish, so full of fish, in fact, that my waistband button popped off. That button headed straight for the limb of a tree on the other side of the creek. It split the limb open just wide enough to catch the toes of five wild turkeys sitting on the limb.

"With my pants full of fish, and the toes of five wild turkeys caught by that limb, we had a fine Thanksgiving dinner."

Gifts For Retarded

Lincoln, Neb.

From a recent publication concerning the retarded, I quote: "Great is the power of might and mind, but only love can make us kind."

The article went on to state that Christmas, the season of love, is a very special occasion for the retarded. The Beatrice State Home Association for Retarded Children makes an annual plea for help in providing gifts for the more than 600 persons at the Beatrice State Home who have no parents or who, for unexplainable reasons, have been forgotten by family at Christmas.

Gifts or money for gifts may be sent directly to the Beatrice State Home, Beatrice.

We know the citizens of Nebraska will again show that "Love can make us kind." Although gifts for all ages, from very young to very old, are needed, anyone wishing specific suggestions, or church or civic groups interested in adopting a ward may contact me or write Social Services, Beatrice State Home, Beatrice.

Kennedy Series

Lincoln, Neb.

Why go back over the life of John Kennedy, a man who has been dead for five years. They put on such a big doings at his funeral, telecast it all day long, and now every Nov. 22, they celebrate his death. Life, Look and all the other magazines carried it the following week or month after it happened. Isn't that enough?

If anyone wants to read such a life history, let him get it in a book or magazine — any place except our daily paper. His widow has remarried. Why not let it rest.

Surely the press has enough news to fill the paper without digging up such matters.

Seeking Sister

Bell Gardens, Calif.

I am trying to locate my baby sister. I last saw her in 1919, at which time she was 13 years old. I do not know her married name. Her maiden name was Winona Lawasa Grimm. She was born in Ash Grove, Mo. in 1906.

I last heard that she was married to a man who had a war surplus store in Lincoln, Nebraska.

I have been trying to find her for a long time and thought maybe the newspaper could help. My thanks for any help anyone can give me.

Patchwork Prairie Country

It seems it is out of fashion today to make mincemeat, whether it be in a big country kitchen or a small apartment. Yet there is a delightful goodness and homely satisfaction in making the sweet spicy mincemeat that lingers long after the blend of spices has left the kitchen. One can never get into trouble making such delicacies, I thought, as I finely diced the apples. Also, one never hurries the process. After the raisins, currants, fruit juices and spices have been blended along with cooked ground beef, it must simmer slowly.

Allow a number of sample taste testings. Perhaps these testings provide the joy and satisfaction in making mincemeat, although I decided to make my own after buying the commercial mix and finding it so lacking in meat.

If I want to make a spicy chopped apple and raisin pie, I will make one but if I want to make a mincemeat pie, I want the meat in it, too, so that there is the rich blend of meat along with the fruit.

Maybe a little more cider and cinnamon, I decided after the umpteenth time of tasting the bubbling mix. After these had been added, I tasted again . . . just a wee bit more sugar and a dash more of nutmeg. I might very well add the last of the grape jelly and the small amount of pineapple juice I drained from a can of crushed pineapple earlier. I let the rich mixture cook slowly a bit longer and tasted it again . . . the better to detect just the right blend of flavors. Mmmmm, if I do say so myself, it is getting to be a dish fit for a king.

When I finished, it was rich and thick and flavorful and almost time for dinner. What to make for dinner? Somehow I am not one bit hungry. But I have faith. Come Thanksgiving, my appetite will be back again and I will proudly bring my mincemeat pies to the table.

"I don't know where that young pup of ours gets all the junk that he drags up into the yard," I told The Farmer as I began to pick up the clutter. There was an empty anti-freeze can that surely must have come from the machine shed after The Farmer had winterized the tractor. There were sticks and tree branches, an old broom The Farmer used in the crib for sweeping grain, an old piece of rope and two tin cans.

The biggest surprise of all was my shoe that disappeared early last summer after I left them standing on the back step shortly after getting our dog. How nice of him to bring it back, all stiff and bent, faded and well chewed.

Just where he had hidden it I will never know for I searched long and hard for it at the time and never caught sight of it. Now I find it gingerly left where I will trip over it. Maybe this dog is trying to tell me something. Am I or am I not his friend?

Divorcee's Income Drops To $55

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q.—"I'm a divorcee, 77, and have been supported the past quarter-century by $200 monthly alimony from my ex-husband. He passed on recently and my only income now is $55 from social security. I've got to maintain appearances, but what can I do?"

A.—There seem to be three courses of action for you. (1) Try to find a job to supplement your income. Perhaps you could work as a companion to someone who would offer board and room plus a salary. (2) Apply for admission to a church home or privately-operated residence for older people offering subsidized care for those with limited means. (3) Swallow your pride and apply to your local welfare office for old age assistance sufficient to permit you to continue living independently.

Q.—"I'm trying to find a retirement village where they'll let me keep my three goats. I'm 82, live alone in the country, and attribute my good sight and hearing to goat milk from my own stock. I've got arthritis and the doctor wants me to move to a development in a warm climate with folks nearby to check if I'm alive each morning. But I'm not going without my goats."

A. — If you're smart enough to listen to a doctor, you're smart enough to forget your romance with the goats. Their milk may be healthful but you can get the same nutrients from other sources. I doubt if you'll find any senior colonies welcoming these beasts.

Q. — "We've all heard of folks going from rags to riches. But what about those of us who go from riches to rags through bankruptcy at age 65? Isn't such a fellow worse off than a man who never held the blue chips? This happened to me and my fortune of a quarter million is gone forever. Thank God for social security — that's all I've got now."

A. — Habits become firm masters, and those accustomed to affluence and luxuries find it much more difficult to adjust to small incomes than those who have always had to watch pennies. Try not to think of happiness in terms of money. If you've got your health at 65 you're way ahead of millionaires who are sick and ailing.

Burglary Case May Be Taken To U.S. Court

An attorney for Jerry Baker of North Platte has reported plans to carry his client's case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

James Schneider of North Platte asked the State Supreme Court, which affirmed a Lincoln County District Court conviction of Baker for burglary, to recall its mandate to the lower court pending the appeal.

Baker was convicted after removing merchandise from the Jack and Jill Store in North Platte while performing custodial duties.

Schneider told state court several federal questions will be put to the high court.

"The United States constitutional right to be from unlawful searches is not waived by consent to any search and seizure where the defendant did not know and was not informed of his right to be free from such unlawful search and seizure," Schneider said in his petition.

This Week's Health Tip

Here's a health tip from the Nebraska State Medical Association:

Holidays mean lots of good food, but leftover turkey and dressing, meats, and creamy desserts can be prime sources of food poisoning if not handled properly.

Protect your leftovers from bacterial contamination by making sure food is not left standing in the open air any longer than necessary. Wrap it and place it in the refrigerator as soon as it's off the table. This is especially true of desserts with cream fillings or toppings.

They should also be kept refrigerated until served.

If you're not sure about leftover food don't take a chance. The symptoms and severity of food poisoning vary, but nausea, vomiting, abdominal cramps and diarrhea are among the very earliest symptoms which may appear from two to 48 hours after contaminated food is eaten.

Careful Driving Is Urged During Holiday Weekend

Traffic accidents in Nebraska occurred at the rate of one every 12 minutes over the Thanksgiving weekend a year ago, Tom Ryan, chief of the Nebraska Accident Records Bureau, noted Wednesday.

He appealed for safer driving and a better record during the holiday weekend coming up.

Last year the Thanksgiving weekend brought 487 accidents resulting in four deaths and 265 injuries.

Last year's victim included a pedestrian, a 13-year-old youth who fell from a farm tractor operated by a 14-year-old boy; a driver crushed beneath his overturning vehicle, and a driver thrown from his vehicle when it went out of control.

Nineteen per cent of the rural traffic accidents involved animals such as deer or domestic animals, Ryan noted.

For traffic accident recording purposes, the Thanksgiving holiday period begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday and continues to midnight Sunday, Dec. 1.

NU Team Plans To Enter Chicago Judging Contest

The University of Nebraska livestock judging team will represent Nebraska and the NU Animal Science Department at the Chicago International Collegiate Livestock Judging Contest Saturday.

Team members are Tom Dearmont, Rose; Steve England, North Platte; James Herzog, Bloomfield; Larry Nelson Alliance; Kenneth Snyder, Paxton; and Gary White, Lexington. They are coached by Dr. R. B. Warren, associate professor of animal science at the university.

They will be required to judge several classes of cattle, sheep and hogs and will compete against approximately 40 other college teams from across the nation.

it used to take a lot of nerve to try to cash a check where you're not well known.

now all it takes is this.

An NBC Card from National Bank of Commerce. It's a check cashing card which positively identifies you as the card owner.

Now a businessman anywhere doesn't need to know you to cash your personal check. A special tamperproof card and your color photograph prevent anyone else from using your card—even if it's lost or stolen. Once a businessman is positive you're the card owner, your NBC Card says a lot.

It tells him that if he follows the conditions printed on the back of the NBC Card, each check of up to $100 is guaranteed by National Bank of Commerce.

Swift Lists $42 Million In Net Loss

Chicago (AP) — Swift & Company reported Wednesday a net loss of $42 million in the fiscal year ended Oct. 26.

R. W. Reneker, Swift's president, said the loss resulted from an extraordinary charge of $57 million against 1968 earnings.

The charge resulted from a decision to close about 250 marginal and unprofitable facilities before the end of 1971, Reneker said.

Earlier this year, Swift indicated it would make substantial charges against this year's income as a result of a stepped-up schedule of closing unprofitable plants.

Reneker said fiscal 1968 sales declined to $2,826,000,000 from $2,919,943,000 a year earlier.

$1.08 A Share

He said preliminary and unaudited operating earnings in 1968, before the extraordinary charge, totaled $15 million, or $1.08 a share. This compares with consolidated operating earnings in 1967 of $30,113,000 or $2.32 a share.

After the non-recurring, extraordinary charge, the 1968 net loss amounted to $42 million, or $3.57 a share, Reneker said.

The company announced in May that it expected the large extraordinary charge against 1968 earnings and said then that it planned to invest released capital in areas of greater profit potential.

"We decided to attack our problems on a massive scale," Reneker said Wednesday. "The benefits to be gained in expanding and accelerating the program will far outweigh the adverse impact in immediate earnings."

Memorial Fund For Don Geweke Is Established

A memorial fund to provide financial assistance to students enrolled in animal science at the University of Nebraska has been established in memory of Don Geweke, it was announced here this week.

Geweke, a senior at NU and a member of the varsity livestock judging team, was killed Nov. 13 in a two-vehicle crash on Highway 22 south of North Loup.

He was the 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Geweke, prominent ranchers in the Mira Valley locality south of Ord, and the husband of Carol (Sintek) Geweke. Mrs. Carol Geweke was hospitalized with severe lacerations following the accident, and is recovering. The couple's three-month-old son, Barry, escaped serious injury.

Geweke would have competed as a member of the NU livestock judging team at the International Livestock Show in Chicago later in November. He also was a member of the junior livestock judging team which competed at the National Western Livestock Show at Denver, Colo., in 1967. During his career at NU, he was a member of the Cornhusker Marching Band for three years.

350 Guests Expected

Omaha (UPI) — Preparations are being made at the Open Door Mission's Island of Hope to serve as many as 350 persons on Thanksgiving Day. Garland T. Thompson, executive director, said an old-fashioned turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be provided for the transient and homeless men of the community.

Pat Lucey To Address 'Coalition'

Pat Lucey, a leading figure in the presidential campaigns of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, will address the Nebraska Democratic Coalition conference in Omaha Dec. 7.

Lucey, former lieutenant governor of Wisconsin, helped direct Kennedy's Nebraska presidential primary campaign.

After Kennedy's assassination, Lucey supported McCarthy's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Lucey is now on the board of directors of the National Democratic Coalition.

Some 200 persons are expected to attend the Omaha conference, which will provide a forum for discussion of the formation of a continuing organization of Democrats interested in change.

Several workshops will be held to discuss current issues in Nebraska politics, including urban and rural problems, state and local government, and "revitalization" of the Nebraska Democratic Party.

Among workshop participants will be Wallace Peterson, University of Nebraska professor of economics; Douglas County Commissioner Daniel Lynch; former State Sen. Ross Rasmussen, and Hess Dyas, executive secretary of the Nebraska Democratic Party.

Others include James Moylan, Mike Jackson, Pat Green and Michael Boyle, all of Omaha.

Jack Gore, professor of economics at the University of Colorado and a leader in the national peace movement, will attend the Omaha conference.

Gore, who was also active in the Kennedy and McCarthy campaigns, is one of the founders of the National Democratic Coalition.

The conference will open at 10 a.m., and end with the election of a steering committee and adoption of a statement of purpose.

2 Men Charged With Robbery Of Service Station

Two men were arraigned in Lancaster County Court Wednesday in connection with the robbery of the U-Save service station at 27th and Vine Sts.

The two, Robert Mitchell, 17, and Ed Johnson, 16, were charged with the robbery of $81 from the station.

The station attendant, Perry Burling, 66, said the two men forced him to turn over all the cash and pulled his coat up over his arms and head before fleeing at about 6 a.m.

Four men were arrested about two hours later in connection with the robbery by the State Patrol after a car carrying the men broke down at the Greenwood Interchange on Interstate 80.

Inspector Robert Sawdon of the Lincoln Police Department said the other two men were being held awaiting results of further investigation and polygraph (Lie detector) tests.

A preliminary hearing for the two men arraigned Wednesday was scheduled for Dec. 11. Bond was set at $3,000.

State Studying Need For Federal Legal Aid

State Welfare Director Harold W. Rogers said Thursday a survey will be made of county welfare offices to see if Nebraska should participate in a new federal legal aid program announced Tuesday by Secretary of Welfare Wilbur J. Cohen.

The federal assistance program would provide legal services to people on welfare and would give state welfare agencies wishing to participate 75 to 80% matching money.

The program is aimed primarily at welfare recipients in rural areas where anti-poverty legal aid programs do not reach.

At the present time, Rogers said, Nebraska doesn't have any money to put up as its share of the cost. He also said the Welfare Department, which is currently facing a $1 million deficit, has no plans to ask the Legislature for additional money to enroll in the program during the coming biennium.

"It would be a little hard to justify asking for money for this program when we don't know to what extent, if any, the problem exists in Nebraska," Rogers said.

Both Omaha and Lincoln already have legal aid service programs for low income persons, but these are primarily financed by the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

The new assistance program will provide legal services to welfare recipients in divorce cases, debt problems and eviction but would not handle normal criminal cases or accident compensation suits.

So far, Rogers said, he has heard of no incidents where this type of service was needed.

"We haven't heard anything about this problem from our county offices, and generally if they have a problem they're quick to voice it," he said.

2nd Scholarship Awarded Cadet

A University of Nebraska senior Air Force ROTC cadet from Crete, Tony J. Kozlik, has been named recipient of a second national armed forced communications and electronics scholarship award of $500.

He received a similar award as a junior last year.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Kozlik of Crete and ranks fifth in a class of 383 seniors in electrical engineering.

Mrs. M. Perkins, Lifetime Lincolnite, Dies

Mrs. Dwight C. (Margaret E.) Perkins of 2249 Smith, Junior League president for the 1952-53 term, died Wednesday. Services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ with rosary at 8:30 p.m. at Hodgman-Splain-Roberts', 4040 A.

A lifetime Lincoln resident, Mrs. Perkins was a 1937 countess of Ak-Sar-Ben, a sustaining member of the Junior League and a member of Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church and Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Her husband is president of Farmers Mutual Insurance Company of Nebraska.

Survivors also include her daughters, Suzanne M. and Diane M., both of Lincoln.

Salvation Army Christmas Kettles To Appear Friday

Christmas Kettles, attended by Salvation Army workers and volunteers from several organizations, will appear on Lincoln streets Friday, according to John Zimmer II, chairman of the Salvation Army Christmas Tree of Lights campaign.

Zimmer said the workers will urge shoppers to "keep the kettles boiling" so that the lonely and needy will not be forgotten at Christmas.

Funds collected will provide food orders to needy families, toys for children, meals for transients and gifts to shut-ins, prisoners and patients in state hospitals and nursing homes.

Organizations that will ring bells for the Salvation Army are Lincoln fire Department, Penal Complex, Cosmopolitan Club, Lincoln Police Department, Veterans of World War I, Capital City Kiwanis Club, Bethany Lions Club, National Secretaries, Waverly FFA, Altrusa Club, Northeast Rotary Club, American Legion Post No. 3, Theta Xi, Lincoln Rotary Club, Lincoln Kiwanis Club and Lonesome Pine Order of Arrow Chapter of Boy Scouts.

Nebraska GOP Planning Flight To Inauguration

Nebraska Republicans are co-sponsoring an "Inauguration Charter" jet flight to Washington for the inauguration of President-elect Richard Nixon.

The plane will leave Omaha Jan. 17 and return from Washington Jan. 21, the day following Nixon's inauguration.

Nebraskans will share a 96-passenger Boeing 727 with Iowa Republicans and stay at the Hotel America in Washington.

Tiemanns Plan California Trip For GOP Confab

Gov. and Mrs. Norbert T. Tiemann and his two top aides will fly to California next Tuesday to attend a meeting of the National Republican Governors Conference.

Tiemann is not scheduled to return until Sunday, Dec. 8, the day before the Legislature convenes here in special session to give themselves a salary raise and decide whether to prevent the state sales tax from dropping to two per cent Jan. 1.

The governor's office said he has cancelled his weekly news conferences for the next two Fridays.

Excellent weather now. Snow has come back to the high Sierra. We will be on cold turkey for the next few days. It lasts the weekend. A gallant bird.

In merry England, it costs a penny to visit the gents' room. Over here it's a nickel-in-the-slot — some posh places make it a dime.

Anyway, recently a porpoise was found in the men's room of the railroad station at Glasgow, Scotland. Dead as a mackerel.

I've been in that station. It's a gloomy place indeed. Makes you wonder why you came to Scotland.

It's my idea that the porpoise wandered into the men's room, already in a depressed mood. When he found he had to spend a penny, he popped off of sheer despair.

At Waikiki, I noticed nearly all the beach hotels have now added coin-in-slot attachments to the plumbing.

All but the elegant Royal Hawaiian. The rich get fringe benefits.

Now that winter is here, fat people will weather it better than those who are thin.

This is a report from scientists at Rutgers. ("I'd die for dear old Rutgers!")

The scientists studied 36 students who ranged from 110 to 330 pounds.

Scientists have wonderful jobs. Bugging rats with odd tests. Looking into people's motives.

One scientist studied coeds and how they kissed. Who, what, where, when and why. How about that for a job?

There's a pig farm in England where they let cold pigs turn the heat on or off as the case may be.

There's an "On" lever and an "Off" lever. If a pig gets cold, he goes over and turns up the heat.

In my scatter, it is usually too cold in the winter.

The household bird is warm-blooded. Likes it about a freezing 60 degrees. I turn the heat up. She sneaks around and turns it down.

I wonder if this happens in the English pig sty. One pig saying, "Heavenly days, I'm freezing." And the other says, "I don't see how you can say that. It's simply roasting."

Lively times around the pig farm.

Up with the blooming birds this a.m. Turned myself on with coffee. In my youth it was thought that coffee might be bad for you.

Not dangerously so. But a little.

Now I am informed by Science that coffee contains the vitamin niacin. The blacker the coffee, the more niacin.

Have a great urge to get up to the snow country. But I've kept it to myself. Last time I said, "Let's go up to the snow" — it cost me a ruddy fortune.

"I'll go right down and buy some ski clothes," she said. "Everything I've got is in rags."

Stretch pants are handwoven by millionaires.

Ski parkas are made of some rare gossamer.

"I charged it," she said, "so you won't have to pay for it until next month."

She has an unshakable feeling that something charged to pay next month really doesn't cost anything.

I am a hot buttered rum skier. The snowy slopes. The skiers rushing madly down through powdery snow. (And maybe busting a leg.) The cold wind.

And me beside the fireplace. Ripe Jamaica and butter dusted with nutmeg.

Shock And Agony Ruled As Presidential Car Sped To Hospital

screamed. His last conscious effort was a slump toward her — who knows? — maybe to protect her. Spectators who had struggled to approach the President began flight.

William Greer hit the accelerator of the President's car as Kellerman roared into a microphone for the police escort, "Take us to a hospital, quick!"

The great head that was sinking to the left came up in the rifle sights again and the trigger was squeezed. As before, the explosive sound swelled through the plaza. This bullet entered the right rear of the skull. Portions of the head exploded from the body in two chunks. One flew backward into the street. The other fell beside the President.

Shock froze the mind of Mrs. Kennedy: She had seen the piece of her husband's head turning in air to drop behind the car. She tried to climb out on the trunk of the automobile.

As Governor Connally tried to breathe, the wound in his chest sucked air. "My God," he screamed, "they are going to kill us all!" as he heard the third shot. His wife, as protective and determined as the Texas frontierswomen of old, cradled his head in her hands and murmured: "Be quiet. You are going to be all right."

The Lincoln bucked the sudden acceleration, but Agent Clint Hill, who had grasped a handrail, hung on, reached over with one hand, and shoved Mrs. Kennedy back into the seat. The agony in her face turned full upon him.

She shouted: "They have shot his head off." Hill looked down. The President was on his left side, his head in the roses his wife had been given. The eyes, wide open, stared at the back of Mrs. Connally. One foot hung over the right door.

As the car swerved onto Stemmons for the race to Parkland Memorial Hospital, four mines away, Mrs. Kennedy pathetically held up an arm. "I have his brains in my hand." The agony on Hill's face was screened by the big sunglasses. He looked back and shook his head no.

The man stayed at the 6th floor window of the Depository until he could see his victim had convulsed. Then the rifle retreated through the window. It was carried across the room and placed between cartons of books. A fourth shell remained in it. The spent shells remained where they dropped, when the assassin walked downstairs.

In the press pool car, Merriman Smith of United Press International lifted the pool phone from between his knees, got the Dallas bureau and said: "Three shots were fired at President Kennedy's motorcade in downtown Dallas." Meager word was out to the world.

Howard Brennan, who had watched all of it from his position at Dealey Plaza, was dismayed to see the police "running in the wrong direction."

He convinced a policeman, speaking desperately, that the whole thing had come from that window up there.

Mr. Brennan gave him a description of the man behind the gun. Officer W. E. Barmett wrote the words: "White Male, approximately 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighing 165, in his early thirties." It was the first "make" on Lee Harvey Oswald.

Other persons were now trying to tell policemen their individual versions of what had happened. Everyone it seemed, had a story to which he would swear.

At the emergency overhang, at the Parkland Hospital, cars whipped to stops in disarray, and men threw themselves out wildly, yelling.

Emory Roberts, agent in charge of this shift of Secret Service, opened the door on Mrs. Kennedy's side, saw the President face down on her leg, and said: "Let us get the President." Mrs. Kennedy said, "No." The last sentences she said in the car were to Clint Hill: "You know he's dead. Let me alone."

Roberts turned to Kellerman. "You stay with the President. I'm taking some men to Johnson."

Quickly, three agents hustled Lyndon Johnson through the emergency door. He was flapping his arms and trying to get back to the Kennedy car. Agent Youngblood said, "No," firmly. Other agents surrounded Mrs. Johnson. That moment the nation had a new President, but he did not know it, although the men around him did.

An ambulance cart was beside the car, but no one could get over Governor Connally to reach the President. Clint Hill whispered to her urgently, "Please let us remove the President." She repeated, "No." Hill removed his jacket and dropped it gently over the head.

Inside the hospital, Mr. Johnson now followed the phalanx of Secret Service agents without question. He had been convinced by the agents this might be a plot against him also. For a while he understood fear.

At last, the stretchers were going in at a run. First there was Governor Connally; behind was President Kennedy, on his back with the coat over his face. Mrs. Kennedy trotted along, her fingers trying to maintain contact with him. Damp blood had penetrated the white gloves to her fingers. The pink wool suit was soaked down the right side, as was the stocking.

The Governor was wheeled into Trauma Two as the President was taken into Trauma One. Nurses looked at Dr. C.J. Carrico, got has nod, and used surgical shears to cut off the presidents clothes. Carrico reached down for a pulse. There was none, the doctor tried a blood pressure cuff. There was no pressure.

Now medical help was jamming the two emergency rooms, and one doctor was making a cutdown on the right ankle; a nurse was doing it to the left arm.

The electrocardiogram had shown a faint palpable heartbeat, hesitant, irregular, and weak. Then it stopped.

A doctor sought to assist breathing by doing a tracheotomy and found the right spot. He enlarged it and thrust a cuffed tube down into the bronchial area.

He was dead, but the work was going on as though something magnificent was about to happen, when Dr. George Burkley, the President's physician, came into the room. He had been assigned against his protests to the 16th car of the motorcade by Kenny O'Donnell, the general of the palace squad.

Mrs. Kennedy knew twenty interminable minutes ago he was dead. Now she sat waiting for a priest. It would be unthinkable to permit his soul to leave for an unseen place and an unknown judgment without absolution.

Reporters, held behind a barrier by police, saw Father Oscar Huber and Father James Thompson escorted through the emergency entrance. Some rushed back to radio cars to report.

Led to Trauma One, with Father Thompson following his pastor, the priests saw a wheeled table with a figure covered from over the head to knees. Seeing the snowy feet, Father Huber thought, "There is no blood in this man."

He crouched to open the bag for the honly oils, the cotton batting, a prayer book Putting the stole around his neck, he glanced around and saw Mrs. Kennedy. The priest whispered, "My sincerest sympathy goes to you," before he stepped to the body and peeled the sheet back from the head to the bottom of the nose. The eyelids were closed now.

Father Huber said: "I absolve you from your sins in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen."

The Roman Catholic Church maintains that the sacrament of Extreme Unction is not valid if the soul has departed. The thumb of the priest dipped into holy oil and traced the sign of the cross on the forehead. "Through this holy annointing," he said softly, "may God forgive you whatever sins you may have committed . . ." Mrs. Kennedy, Doctor Burkley, and Father Thompson stood repeating part of the prayers. As he turned to leave, Mrs. Kennedy hurried to Father Huber and took his arm.

"Father," she said, obviously frightened, "do you think the sacraments had effect?" "Oh, yes," he said. "Yes, indeed." Out in the hall, two Secret Service men took the priest by the arms. "Father," one of them said, "you don't know anything." He understood.

Outside, walking toward their parked car, reporters engulfed them. "Is he dead?" "Tell us what he looked like." "Did Mrs. Kennedy say anything?" Father Huber rubbed his mouth and begged God's forgiveness. "He was unconscious," he said — an answer that was to be misquoted and faisified — and hurried into the car.

Study Finds Public Housing 'Tragically Deficient' In Bettering Family Life

© New York Times Service

Washington — Public housing has succeeded in providing decent living quarters for millions of poor Americans but has been "tragically deficient" in strengthening individual and family life, according to a study for the National Commission on Urban Problems.

For the future, the study found, housing needs of most low and moderate income families probably can be met best by the federal government stimulating private housing development on the one hand while making cash rent subsidies to families on the other.

But it concluded that only public authorities are "likely to be interested and equipped to operate accommodations for unstable, multiproblem families, especially if such families have several children and no more than one responsible adult."

Douglas Chairman

The study, made for the commission by George Schermer Associates of Washington, was released by former Sen. Paul H. Douglas, the commission chairman.

The commission was appointed in 1967 by President Johnson and financed by Congress to study pressing urban problems and recommend solutions. It will expire at the end of this year, and is now completing its final report to the President and Congress.

In a related development, the Urban Coalition urged the states to take a more active role in the housing area and provided the 50 governors with a detailed "agenda" for preparing their 1969 legislative programs.

Public housing has been the primary concern of the federal and city governments. But John W. Gardner, chairman of the coalition, said the states had "abilities and legal authority" unavailable to other governments or private interests involved in housing.

The Douglas Commission study stresses the need for more public housing and an expansion of the rent supplement program, which President Johnson has been able to get through Congress only on a modest scale.

Nixon's Stress

In his campaign for the presidency, Richard M. Nixon placed emphasis on private initiative stimulated by tax credits, home ownership and self-help for the slums.

The study was based on 20 case histories. It gave fictitious names to the cities and developments involved, but some were easily identified.

"Babylon," which could be no city but Chicago, has a housing program "too big, too cold, but very efficient," the authors found.

"The observer wonders whether public housing on the scale of the Babylon highrise projects has not become an efficient and effective machine for converting human beings into aimless automatons," the report said.

'Disaster' In 'Thebes'

In "Thebes," or St. Louis, the authors found that a project consisting of 33 buildings on 57 acres, completed in 1956, was "a disaster" of major proportion.

Almost a quarter of the 2,713 units are vacant, the 11-story buildings have been vandalized and heavily damaged, and women and older people are frequently robbed and assaulted.

But in other cities, where new innovations in public housing had been put in effect, including use of rent subsidies, church ownership, community services and recreation, the quality of life was found to be much better.

Americans Challenged To Rebuild And Unify

New York (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall has hurled a challenge at the nation to rebuild its cities, unify its people, and enter "the era of greatness that has eluded us for too long."

Udall proposed a step-by-step plan for what he called an American Renaissance. And he urged that it swing into action by 1976, as a living celebration of the United States' second century of independence.

The plan, bristling with views on what's wrong with America and why, makes up Udall's second book: "1976 — Agenda for Tomorrow," published by Harcourt Brace and World. It went on sale Wednesday.

It calls for national population planning, multibillion-dollar spending for decades, reforms in both the executive and legislative federal branches, and "a historic shift of power and responsibility to local governments."

Political Plans

Udall, a onetime congressman now ending eight years in the Cabinet to return to private law practice, may get back into politics in time to promote his "Project 76" personally. He has indicated he might seek an Arizona seat in the Senate in 1970.

Udall said in his new book that America has reached a crisis in the 1960s because of "two tragic tributaries of failure: the century-long failure to build livable cities and the closely related failure to make a multiracial society work."

He said the Kerner Commission's report on riots in the cities failed to spark the necessary reforms for two reasons: "the high cost of the Vietnam war foreclosed immediate consideration by . . . Congress", and its crash-program proposals "ran head on into the pervasive anti-big-city bias of the Congress."

Here are some of the book's major viewpoints and proposals:

On population — A Population Policy Commission should be created to figure out the most desirable size for the U.S. population. By 1976, national programs should be started to encourage family planning, improve sex education, spread birth control information and devices, remove the social stigma from the unmarried and childless, encourage later marriage, and guide population growth by tax incentives.

On Project 76 — A keynote conference should be held in 1969, to be followed with master planning by communities, supported by 50% federal financial aid.

Abraham Lincoln's
National Thanksgiving Proclamation
1863

"The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessing of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added...it has seemed to me
fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice
by the whole American people."

May you always find, in your own heart, many reasons for Thanksgiving.

The 'Gibson Girl' Returns

BY ELIOT FREMONT-SMITH
(c) New York Times Service

The Gibson Girl: Drawings of Charles Dana Gibson. Edited by Steven Warshaw.

Here she stands, tall, graceful, alluring, her lustrous hair piled high to crown a perfect if empty head poised on a swan-like neck. Her skin is alabaster, her dress rich, cascading satin, cut low and full in front, with a trace or bustle behind. Her eyes are large, deep and bright. A slight smile plays across her glowing face. Is it the smile of desire? Or of shyness? Or of imperial disdain? We cannot tell. We know only that she is innocent yet knowing, demanding yet practical, yearning yet mysteriously self-contained — and infinitely desirable. She is Charles Dana Gibson's "American Girl," immortalized in her own time as the Gibson Girl.

Her own time was, of course, the early 1900s, when she adorned such magazines as the Early Life, Scribner's Harper's, The Century and Collier's, which once paid her creator a record $50,000 for 52 drawings. She was the dream of American femininity, and her immense popularity fore shadowed that of movie stars. Shortly before World War I, Scribner brought out several extremely successful volumes of Gibson Girl cartoons, and it is from these that the present and most-welcome resurrection is drawn.

Charles Dana Gibson (1867-1944) studied with Frederic Remington at the Art Students League. He worked mostly in pen and ink, and his line is still striking for its crisp and firm assurance. But Gibson longed to be taken as a serious social commentator, and not merely as an arbitrator of fashion and humorist of the banal. So his Gibson Girls are interspersed with stinging exposures of the evil and waste of vanity, the hypocrisies of social etiquette and the sadnesses of matrimonial error.

And the Gibson Girl herself was not immune. An object of desire, she is also, in these pages, an object of fun and ridicule. Her suitors are occasionally handsome (modeled after Gibson's swashbuckling journalist-friend, Richard Harding Davis, but more often they fall far short of the romantic ideal. And she can be cruelly callous and stunningly dumb.

The captions tell the story. He: "Do you know, when I came near being drowned last summer, I saw all my past life in an instant." She: "Oh, how awful." (for real-life Gibson Girls who might be a trifle slow, the cartoon was entitled, "a gruesome vision.")

But the struggle of the sexes is paramount. Sometimes it is a stand-off. She: "I had no idea that you were in love with me." He: "Neither had I, until I proposed and you rejected me." More often, beauty has the upper hand. She: "You are so awkward in your lovemaking that sometimes I am suspicious." He: "Of what?" She: "That you may be sincere."

Every once in a great while, the male is allowed to triumph. Consider the following gallantry. She: "I know that you must have made love before to some other girl." He: "But I had you in mind all the time." Yet, no triumph, however dashing, is permanent. He: "Was that you I kissed in the conservatory last night." She: "About what time was it?" And neither he nor we shall ever know whether she is really that stupid or just playing it with expert cool. From Beatrice and Benedict to Thurber and beyond, the contenders in romance spar in enticing and changeless style, which is why the Gibson Girl, now more than half a century old, never once seems dated. Will as much be said for Lucy or Barbarella? I frankly doubt it.

ABBY

a word with many definitions

DEAR ABBY: One of your readers asked where the term "Broads" as applied to women come from. I believe I know. It started in Philadelphia during World War I.

When a man who was on Leave and Liberty would inquire as to where to find the "ladies of the night," he was directed to BROAD STREET. The females there were called "BROAD STREET BABES." Later it was shortened to "BROAD-STREETERS." Finally it became "BROADS."

I do not want to offend the good people of Philadelphia who presently live on BROAD STREET or the men in service, for that matter, either, but these are the facts.

ANNAPOLIS, MD.

DEAR ABBY: About the word "broad:"

It simply means "female." The adjective PRECEDING determines whether it's an insult or a compliment.

There are dumb broads, cheap broads, ugly broads, and loud-mouthed broads. Just as there are "high class" broads, beautiful broads, good-hearted broads, and smart broads.

Her figure has nothing to do with it. There are fat broads and skinny broads. The word itself has a special flavor, however, because a person of taste would never ask his minister if that "broad" in the green hat was his wife.

CORONA, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: During World War II, the Women Marines were affectionately called "BROAD A — MARINES." or "BAMS." They were also referred to as "BROADS." The term was not meant to be derogatory, but it did have something to do with the dimension of the derriere.

U.S.M.C. (from '42 to '46)

DEAR ABBY: Take it from a rabbi: The word "Broad" comes from the Hebrew "RE HOVOTH," which means "the street." When referring to a woman "of the street," she is called a "broad."

Very truly yours,
L. W. (A Rabbi)

DEAR ABBY: I know you won't believe this, but for your information, a "BROAD" is a pregnant-cow. Ask any farmer.

NEBRASKAN

DEAR ABBY: It has always been my understanding that the word "broad" came from "Broadway show girls." It's obvious.

FOOD

for merry Christmas gifts

One to get ready and three to go — giftgiving time is here. This fruit cake trio so beautifully laden with California golden seedless raisins is a most inviting way to say "Happy Holidays." No gift is appreciated more than one made by the very hands of the giver.

The trio is made from a simple recipe that requires no aging. They are ready for eating as soon as they are baked. Canned pineapple tidbits, maraschino cherries and raisins sweeten the batter. Unlike the traditional dark heavy fruit cakes, ours are light in color and texture.

Each cake is distinguished by shape, decoration and presentation. Juice or fruit cans make interesting baking containers. No matter the size, just fill three fourths full with batter. When baked and cooled, frost and lavishly decorate with raisins and candied fruits. Use your ingenuity in readying the cakes for their giftgiving role. How about presenting them on a candle holder, tray, unusual cutting board or a decorative tissue box holder? These sparkling beauties will indeed be a joy to receive.

THREE-TO-GO RAISIN FRUIT CAKE

1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
2/3 cup sliced maraschino cherries
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 tablespoon lemon extract
5 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 (15-ounce) package seedless raisins
1 cup sliced almonds

Drain pineapple and cherries well; pat with paper towels. Beat together butter and sugar until light. Add flavorings. Beat in eggs, one at a time (batter will look curdled). Blend in flour resifted with salt and baking powder. Mix in raisins, almonds, pineapple and cherries. Divide batter among one well greased 1-quart juice can, one 1-pound shortening can and one 1-pound 4-ounce fruit can, filling each about three-quarters full. Set shallow pan of hot water on oven floor. Place cans on lowest oven rack. Bake in very slow oven (275 degrees F.) about 2 hours for juice and fruit cans and about 2 hours and 15 minutes for shortening can. Let stand 15 minutes, then invert onto rack to cool. (If necessary cut bottom from cans and gently push out cake.) Decorate as desired with thick powdered sugar and water frosting, additional raisins and candied fruits. Store cakes in refrigerator. Makes 1 large and 2 small cakes.

A Handy Recipe

Here's a really scrumptious dessert for the finale to a dinner at home. It's chilly, and elegant — the best-ever variety of cheese cake, with an extra-special flavor. The secret is canned apple sauce. That's what makes the difference in flavor and texture. The zing of apples perks up the blandness of the cheese.

And no long hours in the kitchen either. This is a convenience cheese cake. You'll find most of the ingredients right in your kitchen cupboard.

No need to fret when unexpected company arrives. In a matter of minutes, stir up this appley flavored cheese cake and you'll be an instant success as a hostess.

APPLE CHEESE CAKE ELEGANTE

1 package (10½ ounces) cheese cake mix
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
⅓ cup walnuts, ground or finely chopped
1½ cups cold milk
2 cups canned apple sauce
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon mace

To make crust, empty envelope of graham cracker crumbs into a bowl. Add ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup melted butter and nuts. Mix until thoroughly combined. Press mixture firmly against sides and bottom of an 8-inch pie plate. Refrigerate 15 minutes or bake in a 375 degree F. oven for 8 minutes. Cool.

To make filling, pour milk into a small mixing bowl. Add contents of cheese cake filling envelope, ½ cup apple sauce and grated lemon rind. Beat at low speed with electric mixer or rotary beater until blended. Beat at medium speed 3 minutes longer. Pour into prepared crust. Chill at least 1 hour.

To make topping, combine 1½ cups apple sauce and remaining ingredients in a saucepan. Simmer for 20 minutes. To serve, top wedges of cake with spiced apple sauce topping. Topping may be served warm or cold. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Christmas Cookies Are Dressed Up

PRAGUE TEA SQUARES
Yield: 3 dozen

1½ sticks (¾ cup) Butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 Egg
⅛ Teaspoon vanilla
Or margarine
2 Cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 Cup chopped almonds
½ cup strawberry jam
Powdered sugar

Cream butter or margarine and sugar. Add egg and vanilla; mix well. Stir in flour, allspice, and almonds. Spoon about one-half of the mixture into a 9 inch square pan. Spread with jam and top with remaining dough. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 to 45 minutes, until delicately browned. Sift powdered sugar over the surface. Cut into 36 squares.

SUGAR MERINGUE DELIGHTS
Yeild: About 5 dozen

2 sticks (1 cup) margarine or butter
¾ cup sugar
3 egg yolks
3 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated orange rind rind
3 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon almond extract
Decors

Cream butter and ¾ cup sugar together until light and fluffy, Add egg yolks; beat well. Add flour, salt, and orange rind to creamed mixture. Shape into rolls 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate overnight. Slice dough ¼ inch thick and place on cookie sheet. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until foamy. Gradually add ¾ cup sugar and beat until stiff, but not dry. Fold in almond extract. Drop teaspoonfuls of meringue onto cookie slices. Decors may be sprinkled on top, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes just until delicately browned.

FROSTED YULE LOGS
Yield: 6 dozen

2 sticks (1 cup) margarine or butter
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup sugar
1 cup finely chopped pecans. 1 egg white, beaten slightly.

Cream butter and ¾ cup sugar. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour and nutmeg; stir into creamed ingredients. Shape dough into pencil thin yule logs about 2 inches long. Combine ¼ cup sugar and pecans. Dip yule logs into egg white and then into sugar-nut mixture. Place on cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) until browned, about 10 minutes.

MOLASSES-ALMOND TWINS
Yield: About 4 dozen

½ cup shortening
3 tablespoons molasses
1 teaspoon instant coffee
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
½ cup Shortening
½ cup powdered sugar
½ cup chopped almonds

Cream together ½ cup shortening and molasses. Mix in coffee and vanilla. Sift together flour, salt, and soda. Stir into creamed mixture. Wrap dough in waxed paper, forming into a roll 1 inch in diameter. Chill 2 hours or longer. Combine rest of ingredients. Shape into a roll 1 inch in diameter and wrap in waxed paper. Chill. Cut each roll into ¼ inch thick slices and place almond layers on top of molasses slices on cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 7 to 10 minutes.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW TOP HATS
Yield: 4 to 4½ dozen

½ cup shortening
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 egg
1¾ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cocoa
½ cup milk
½ cup chopped nuts
About 25 marshmallows, cut in half
6 ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 tablespoons shortening
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream ½ cup shortening and brown sugar. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, soda, salt, and cocoa. Beat in flour mixture alternately with milk. Stir in nuts. Drop rounded teaspoons of dough onto cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Remove from pan and top with marshmallows. Cool enough to handle. Melt chocolate pieces with 2 tablespoons shortening. Stir in cinnamon. Swirl marshmallow-topped cookies in frosting to coat marshmallows. Set aside to cool.

Slinky—The Word For New Fashion

BY BERNADINE MORRIS
(c) New York Times Service

New York — Women are ready to look sexy again. Designers are convinced of it. That's the reason they're giving for their growing concern with soft, clingy dresses that slither around the body, encouraging women to slink.

They've eliminated all the linings, interfacings and stiffening that women have become accustomed to ever since Christian Dior built bras and petticoats into his dresses back in the 1940s. Balenciaga strengthened the tradition with his severely tailored coats and suits and Courreges gave it his stamp of approval with clothes so strict they looked as if they could stand by themselves.

A generation of women grew up in clothes as rigid as armor. They marched at attention, like soldiers.

Now the pendulum is swinging in the other direction. Designers are turning out dresses that cling to curves rather than camouflage them.

"Older women still get upset when they look at a dress without all that inner construction," observed Stanley Herman of Mr. Mort. "The young ones aren't embarrassed. They're not worried about showing their figures."

"It's a step away from 'security tent' clothes," agreed Gayle Kirkpatrick. "Women are becoming aware of their bodies again in this type of dress."

He is among the designers who are convinced that the trend to soft designs is the wave of the future, far more significant than what happens every season to waistlines or skirt lengths.

But they all admit there are hurdles to overcome before the fashion becomes general.

One is that although the dresses may slink on the body, they drip, droop and look less than enticing on the hanger.

"A woman has to know what she's after or she'll never even get to try one on," said Leo Narducci.

A second obstacle is that the clothes demand a certain amount of assurance from the wearer.

"The dress isn't doing any covering up for her," observed Jon Haggins, whose specialty is slinky clothes. "A girl has to be pretty self-confident to do without all that inner construction."

What he didn't say was that she had to have a pretty good figure, preferably tall and not too buxom.

Dresses slink in crep, matte jersey and all manner of synthetic fabrics. Whether they're bare or covered, long or short, they take their shape from the woman wearing them. Many of them have sashes to twine, drawstrings to pull and folds to adjust so the same dress looks different on different people.

Some even have trousers to add, to capitalize on the vogue for pants.

Whatever their cut, they have an asset that is sure to lead to greater popularity: their inherent sexiness.

"When a woman wears one of them into a restaurant, the men don't concentrate on their food," said Narducci. "They always turn around and look."

Bridge: defensive coup

East dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	Pass	Pass	Dble
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥
Pass	2 ♠

Opening lead — four of clubs.

The trump coup is generally regarded as exclusively declarer's domain, but there are times when it can also be used successfully on defense. Consider this hand where South was in two spades and West led a club.

East won with the ten and shifted to the ten of spades. Declarer followed low, winning in dummy with the king, and returned a diamond, won by West with the queen.

West played another club through the king. Declarer ruffed, cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond, on which West discarded a heart, and then ruffed a club. Declarer having won five of the seven tricks played, this was now the position:

North

East
♥ K J 10
♦ K
♣ J 2

South
♠ J 8

Declarer led the six of diamonds and West made the very farsighted play of ruffing with the seven. He knew from the previous plays that East still had the king of diamonds, but West ruffed in order to reduce his trump length to that of South's.

Declarer overuffed in dummy with the ace and led the ace and another heart. East won with the jack, continued with the king, and South found himself in a hopeless predicament. Whether he elected to ruff or to discard a diamond, the defenders were bound to score the last three tricks with the Q-9 of spades and either a club or a heart. South's J-8 of trumps were couped.

The key play was West's ruff of the six of diamonds in the diagrammed position. Had he discarded instead, his last three cards would have been the Q-9-7 of spades, and he would have been forced to ruff his partner's king of hearts and yield a trump trick to South's J-8.

Rita's MAIL BOX

I hope that you have all of the materials necessary to make your Curler Caddy Girl. If your bleach bottle is a different size than the one in the directions you will have to adjust the pattern accordingly. If you will send a large self-addressed and stamped envelope I will send you a copy of the patterns. The instructions you will get from the newspaper so be sure to cut them out.

The front of the bleach bottle is the part that is directly across from the handle; that is, half way around the bottle from the handle. We are going to cut a hole in the front of the bottle. Be sure that it is centered in the front. It is the hole into which you will put your curlers. Measure five inches from the bottom of the bottle and cut a rounded hole that is four inches in diameter.

Now we will cut a rectangular piece of foam that is one Half inch taller than your bottle and that is the length of the circumference of the bottle plus one-fourth inch. Glue this cover to the bottle but try to avoid using glue where it will show as it often shows through the foam.

The extra one-half inch height will be glued to the underneath part of the bottle. To make the foam fit around the handle, find the middle of the foam, measuring the distance around the bottle this time. Cut two slashes down from the top of the foam that will go around the neck of the bottle. One slash will be on one side of the center of the foam. The other slash will be on the other side. They will be the distance apart that is the width of the handle plus one inch. This part, the width between the two slashes will wrap around the handle and glue in the back.

The two ends of the rectangle will come together in the center of the front of the bottle. Overlap very slightly. Use as little glue as possible. You have covered the opening that you cut in your bottle. Slash the part that covers the opening and turn it to the inside, gluing it to the inside of the container. You may cut off some of the excess first if you so desire. Do not slash quite to the edge of the opening.

Now we will make the rest of the rectangle fit around the top of the bottle. Make slashes that come down from the neck edge of the foam. Overlap as necessary to make the foam fit and glue down securely. Some of the excess may be cut out. It will fit more smoothly if you do.

We are now ready to cut out the pattern pieces. You will have to send for these. All of the pattern pieces are shown as half pieces except the collar which is given full size. You will need two of the collar pieces, however, as the collar is the type that starts in the center of the front and goes to the middle of the back. The second piece will start in the middle of the back and meet the other collar piece in the front.

Put the other pattern pieces on a fold so you will get full sized parts. Better yet, cut out full sized patterns first and use these to do your actual cutting of the patterns. Cut all pieces, including the collar (using a pinking shears if you have one), except the back section of the bonnet, the edge of the brim that overlaps the back of the bonnet, the bow, and the flowers. These are cut with ordinary scissors.

There is a cape that goes around the doll's shoulders. There is also an undercape and, as it sounds, one goes right over the other one. Both the cape and the undercape have two parts, fitting as does the collar, one to one side and the other to the other side. Or, to make it slightly plainer, one part of each goes over the right shoulder and the second parts go over the left shoulder.

Glue gold baby rickrack near the edge of the overcape and the collar, both parts of each of these. Next week we will try to finish our instructions. Be sure to cut out this column!

Ceremonies On Wednesday

Bouquets of gold-toned roses decorated the altar of St. Bonaventure Church in Columbus, Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 27, for the wedding of Miss Cheryl Christine Loshbaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Loshbaugh, and Gary Lee Bock, son of Mrs. Leo Bock, and the late Mr. Bock, all of Columbus. The 1:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Regis Watts.

Wearing Victorian frocks of gold velvet were Mrs. Robert Hegi and Miss Judi Bock, the honor attendants,and the bridesmaids, Miss Pam Jones, London, Ky.; Miss Jeannie Cox, Lexington, Ky.; and Mrs. William Queen, III, Boulder, Colo.

Robert Hegi of Columbus, served Mr. Bock as best man, and the corps of ushers included Ron Gumm, Robert Broz, Mark Nyffeler, Dave Heiser, Rodney Gumm, Columbus; Tim Keyser, Omaha; and Jeff Schneider, Bellevue.

The bride's Empire gown was fashioned of white velvet. Venise lace edged the rounding neckline and long sleeves of the basque, and the lace was repeated at the hem of the slender skirt which was complemented by a back mantle of the velvet. Her train-length mantilla of Alencon lace was draped over a velvet cap.

Mr. and Mrs. Bock will live in Lincoln, where the bride is a senior at the University of Nebraska. She served as a countess in the 1968 Court of Ak-Sar-Ben. Mr. Bock is a former student at Wayne State College.

The chancel of Sacred Heart Church was appointed with gold and bronze-toned chrysanthemums, Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, for the marriage of Miss Annette Wunderlich, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Wunderlich of Hampton, Va., formerly of Lincoln, to James E. Stier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stier. The ceremony was solemnized at 7 o'clock by Msgr. Howard Hart.

Mrs. Horst Hofmann of Cincinnati, Ohio, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Wunderlich, Hampton, Va., Miss Helen Gorynski and Mrs. Roger Ryman, appeared in slim, floor-length frocks of silk velvet in the brandy shade. They carried cascades of strawflowers, bronze and gold chrysanthemums.

Serving Mr. Stier as best man was Dennis Walls, and seating the guests were Jeff Bailey and Morris Hartung. The groomsmen were Calvin Segner, Robert Bixler and Richard Ligenza.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, who traveled from Thailand for the ceremony. Her gown of white silk crepe was trimmed with Venise lace, which encircled the Empire waistline above the slender skirt, and also edged the above-elbow sleeves. The lace was repeated in the border of her train-length veil of illusion, and she carried white roses and Star-Of-Bethlehem blossoms in multi-tints.

Mr. and Mrs. Stier will reside in Lincoln, where the bridegroom is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Thanksgiving In Suburbia

The times and the methods have changed since that first Thanksgiving took place so many years ago — the turkey is cooked not over an open fire, but in an electrically-timed oven; guests no longer arrive on horseback, they've found the airplane and automobile much quicker and more convenient; and after dinner the gentlemen settle down to watch a nationally-televised football game, while the ladies load the dishes into the automatic dish-washer.

Yes, the "American way of life" has changed a great deal over the years, but today provides living proof that everything has not been altered — Americans still recognize the importance of giving thanks, and, more significantly, they still have a great deal to be thankful for!

Before we begin telling of all the comings and goings taking place today, we'd like to mention a Kimberly Heights resident who recently returned from a four-day vacation. Mrs. Pearle Frey spent three days in Red Cloud where she visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Callahan. From there she continued on to Kearney where she was joined by Glenn Kollars. The two Lincoln residents had dinner with Mr. Kollars' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Friese in Kearney, before returning to Lincoln in Mr. Kollars' plane.

Thanksgiving 1968 will include for Mr. and Mr. Lee Hinrichs and family a celebration in Dorchester. Mr. and Mrs. Hinrichs and daughters, Amy Lynn and Lori Ann, will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hladky. Also included in this particular gathering will be Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kubicek of Milligan, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Becwer of Exeter.

If we were to give an award to the family who most epitomized the spirit of Thanksgiving, it would probably have to go to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Marshall of Lincoln Heights. Like so many others, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will have a houseful of company today, and one very special young man who will share the Marshalls' holiday is four-year-old Ricky Seymour. Ricky is a resident of the South Dakota Children's home in Sioux Falls, and it seems that he has become a favorite of the Marshalls' daughter, Nola Diane, who attends Sioux Falls College and often does volunteer work at the home.

Nola and her young guest arrived in Lincoln Monday evening, and we understand that Mrs. Marshall, and daughters, Melinda, Lura and Nola, spent Tuesday buying new clothes for their guest.

Also joining the Marshalls for dinner today will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sattler, their sons Terry and Tom; and daughters Phyllis and Sandy.

South Hills residents Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephens will attend a family get-together at the home of Mrs. Stephens' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jackson. Also on hand will be the two ladies' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Smith of Glenwood, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carson and sons, Paul and Johnny, of Patrician Heights will be spending the day in Winside, as the guests of Mrs. Carson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pfeiffer. Mrs. Carson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Petersen, also will arrive from Norfolk for the family celebration.

AROUND TOWN

It's a family day today. Perhaps we should say that it is a family weekend since there are those who have come — and those who have gone to attend Thanksgiving festivities elsewhere.

On the list of guests who have come to celebrate the holiday in Lincoln are Miss Annette Gessner who arrives today to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gessner. Miss Gessner comes from Racine, Wis., where she is teaching.

And completing the family circles at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gessner will be Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gessner and their three young sons who will come from Iowa City.

Mr. and Mrs. Gessner (The former Nancy Stebbins) and their members of the younger generation will also visit Mrs. Gessner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Irl Stebbins.

They won't be crossing any meadows nor will they be going through any woods but "To Grandmother's House" will go the members of the Saturday Night Dancing Club on Saturday evening. The party theme, as you may have guessed, is "To Grandmother's House We Will Go," and of course the affair is a dinner dance.

The party planners are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chace, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Blackman, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McEniry, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bull and from Seward — Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shan.

It would seem that the members of the Fifty Fifty Club keep their eyes on the future. They did their Thanksgiving celebrating with their 'Plymouth Rock n' Roll' party, and now it's time to bring out the Christmas theme — This they have done and 'Santa's Prancers' will be out and about next Tuesday evening.

It's the Fifty Fifty Club's dinner dance at Hillcrest Country Club, and arranging the details is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sagness, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nesseler, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Burrell Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elm, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stout, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mays and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Lamphere.

Theta Scholarship Fund For The Very Young

All they need is lots of love and a little help. Their ages are between three and five years and they have all of the zest for living that all small boys and girls have. Right now they aren't just the average small boy and small girl because they, you see, must go to special schools, and special schools take money.

That is where the Kappa Alpha Theta philanthropy enters the picture. It sort of reinforces the future for these children who are retarded.

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Richard Youngscap, Kappa Alpha Theta philanthropy chairman, presented a check in the amount of $200 to TRY, an organization interested in aiding the retarded. The money will go toward scholarships for some of the youngsters who will attend special schools.

The Rev. Carl Burkhardt, the minister at Bethany Christian Church is chairman of the scholarship fund which, we are told needs to grow.

On hand at the presentation of the check were members of the very young generation for whom the money is intended. We're sure that no three or five year-old would have the foggiest notion as to the meaning of the word 'scholarship, but even so — Tab, Ann and Chris (in front) seem to be enjoying the proceedings, as do the others in the background. The Rev. Burkhardt and Mrs. Youngscap share the pleasant atmosphere with the youngsters.

Martha Graham

BY ANNA KISSELGOFF
(C) New York Times Service

New York — At a time of life when others of her stature would be looking backward and writing their memoirs, Martha Graham is looking to the future. Pausing the other day during her current season at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, Miss Graham disclosed that she was forming a new pre-professional troupe, planning a greater role for younger dancers in her dance company and hoping to have it present works by choreographers other than herself.

The celebrated dancer and choreographer discussed these changes in her traditional policies at the recently renamed Martha Graham Center of Contemporary Dance here, the headquarters for her school and company.

A portrait in elegance whose youthful appearance in her early seventies has become as legendary as her span of creativity, Miss Graham offered a richly textured commentary on subjects ranging from her own art to nudity in the dance of others.

"Age is one of the fetishes we love," she said, gently dismissing the idea of chronological age. What was important was the absence of "muddy thinking," she remarked.

But today there is also a practical concern in her life. It deals with what she called the need for the "enlarged scope" of the dance center and the self-perpetuation of her company.

Although "institution" is a word Miss Graham does not use, she has deliberately shifted responsibility for the company and the school from herself to several trusted associates in recent years. The company now "runs itself," according to Leroy Leatherman, the Center's executive director. New members are accepted upon the recommendation of senior dancers.

The current performances were cast and produced entirely by the company's co-directors, Bertram Ross and Robert Cohan, and by Patricia Birch, the rehearsal director, Leatherman said.

An attempt to place the activities of the school, company and fund raising under one management came last spring when the Martha Graham Foundation For Contemporary Dance was legally reorganized as the Center, a corporation with a board of directors. At the same time, a permanent home for the Center was assured with the purchase of the school building, at 316 East 63 Street, through a grant from the Lila Acheson Wallace fund.

As a rule, Miss Graham has choreographed for specific dancers. The result has been a form of typecasting that has made her admirers wonder whether the company would survive without her and its senior members.

Miss Graham's enthusiasm has been fired recently by a particularly youthful group. She was so impressed with the talent of the 25 scholarship students admitted to her school in September that she decided they should form a new and younger Graham company.

"They will be separate from the rest of the school and will be treated as potential professionals. It could possibly be a second company," she said.

Memoirs do not interest her. "I might write something," she said. "I have a contract. But I wouldn't write anything to do with my personal life. And all my notes will be burned."

Questioned about her own attitude to her works, Miss Graham commented: "I care less about the dances than the dancers because I am a dancer primarily and then a choreographer. I never used the word, 'choreography,' when I started out. I don't mind the word, but it was not on my programs. Antony Tudor once asked me how I wanted to be known. I said, as a dancer. He was horrified. Now, I am beginning to understand his point of view."

Annual Yule Brunch

The traditional Christmas brunch and program of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Women's Division will be held Sunday noon at the Hotel Cornhusker.

More than 200 are expected to attend the 12:30 o'clock brunch. Chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements is Mona Warner.

No meeting of the division's executive committee will be held during the month of December, but the entire board of directors will be the guests next Wednesday evening of Mrs. Roy Sheaff at her home.

Following the 6:30 o'clock dinner, the current committee chairmen and co-chairmen will join the board for dessert and coffee at 7:30 o'clock, and to review activities of their committees for the year.

A gift-exchange will follow.

up and down the street

As we made our way up one street and down another to call on some Lincoln residents, we felt exceedingly lucky if we caught anyone at home, and when we're that lucky, we didn't pause to chatter more than a moment, since almost everyone is having Thanksgiving weekend guests or planning a big dinner. Following dinner, of course, there is the relaxing in front of the television screen, absorbed in a football game.

We did find Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hoffman of 1545 Nemaha at home after some early celebrating on Sunday, Nov. 24. That was when they were dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Hoffman's niece, Mrs. Robert Mares. Assisting her daughter as co-hostess was Mrs. Hoffman's sister, Mrs. Elmer Yost.

Other guests, in addition to Mr. Mares and Mr. Yost, were Mrs. Hoffman's niece, Mrs. Delbert Reise and family from Dorchester; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Krauter, and their son, David, of Nebraska City; and her sisters and brothers-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Molzer and Mr. and Mrs. George Brakhage, all of Plymouth.

We don't mean to tattle on any of our up and down the street residents, but we know for a fact that Mrs. Richard Morrison wasn't at the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 5. We will excuse both Mr. and Mrs. Morrison who live at 3235 No. 12 for ignoring election day this year because their first child, Jeffery Allen, arrived on that date.

Jeffrey, who naturally is the center of attention at his home, received a visit from his two paternal great-grandmothers, Mrs. May Croiser of Summerfield, Kan., and Mrs. Nita Morrison of Pawnee City, who were in Lincoln on Friday, Nov. 15 to greet their new great-grandson.

Also eagerly looking forward to a first visit with Jeffrey are his maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Obermeyer of Marysville, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Luehring of Hanover, Kan., not to mention the proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Morrison, Jr. of Summerfield and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Obermeyer of Beattie, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ebert and their children, Cari and Michael, who reside at 1425 So. 28 shared Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. Ebert's mother, Mrs. Dorthy Ebert of Sutton, and are her house guests this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Atterberry of Richland, Mo., are holiday weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Feiler, Jr. and their children, Cynthia, Dean, Joy and Sue Ann, who are residents at 6205 Judson St. They are arriving today to share Thanksgiving dinner and are remaining until Sunday. On Friday and Saturday the men hope to do some hunting.

Mr. and Mrs. Atterberry were joined by the members of Mr. Feiler's family as dinner guests, and this group included Mr. Feiler's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Peters; his mother, Mrs. Blanche Feiler; his sister and brother-in law Mr. and Mrs. Gene LaChapele and their son, Roger, and his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Martin Feiler and Terry, all of Omaha.

Two Trees In Every Home

The "in" thing for Christmas 1968 for those in the affluent society will be two Christmas trees in the house!

That's the official word from the man who knows about these things, Albert V. Sadacca, "dean" of the electric Christmas tree light industry and one of the brothers who invented the electric Christmas tree light.

According to Sadacca, one tree, the larger one, is the "show" tree that is placed in front of the picture window. The second tree is the one which is kept in the family room . . . for the family.

"Two trees in the home has been the growing trend during the past decade in the society that leans towards two cars, two bathrooms and even two houses according to the trend studies," Mr. Sadacca points out. "Actually, though, there is more to this growing idea than merely a 'snob' attitude. Members of the household feel that having two trees is a way of spreading Christmas cheer not only throughout the home but to also give the effect of telling the world out there, via the show tree, that 'the tree in our window is an extension of our Christmas card. It tells passersby that the people in this house wish the people in your house, a merry, merry Chrimstmas.

"The need for the second tree lies in the fact that the family doesn't really want to share its emotions or make public its own intimate Christmas setting. So the second tree finds its way into the family room where the stockings are 'hung with care' and the presents are piled up," Mr. Sadacca said.

"Mom and dad like this idea of the second tree being in the family room so they can sit around in their robes while the children open those mysterious packages.

"And because this is an intimate time for the family, this smaller tree is gaudier and more decorated, and truly reflects the family's personality.

"The showcase tree presents a problem because it is all-green and is replacing the aluminum tree which just required ornaments, and a multitude of lights to dramatize the setting. Now, in order to keep up with the Joneses, this means that in showcasing a live or plastic tree, one has to relearn how to decorate it," says Mr. Sadacca. "Simplicity should be the watchword, and the ideal way, in order to cover more area and give a greater variety of color, is to use miniature lights — four or more strings with an equal variety in color. This makes the most beautiful type of tree. If the family wants to do something a little more special in order to draw more attention from the passersby, there are at least two major ways to do this. One is by interspersing twinkling lights, and the second is to continue the overall lighting pattern to the bushes directly in front of the window.

Hostess

Mrs. L. V. Skidmore was hostess to the members of the Odds And Ends Extension Club recently at her home assisted by Mrs. R. M. Sandstedt.

Mrs. Leonard Wenzl presided at the meeting, during which the members voted to contribute to TRY organization to aid retarded youngsters. The program speaker was Mrs. Lawrence Enersen who spoke on the new future for the mentally retarded.

IN LINCOLN'S SHOPS

Americans have been called the most gadget-conscious people in the world, and probably they are. With industry constantly developing more convenient utensils for all phases of life, Mrs. Homemaker's job is becoming easier by the day. But there are so many developments in kitchen and home care equipment that busy homemakers have difficulty in keeping up with them.

For example, how many homemakers are sick unto death of their dreary kitchen cupboards, but don't have the time and extra energy to give them the sparkle they need? Housewares departments have featured adhesive backed shelf paper for years, but they now have precut and pleated plastic strips for the shelf edge. The gaily patterned plastic ruffles have an adhesive backing so they can be measured to the right length, cut and placed on the shelves.

And while we are talking about adhesive backed items, why not try an 18 or 24 inch plastic wall holder complete with metal hooks for that little extra space on the back of a closet door or for a narrow section of wall? It would get the brooms and mops off the floor in the cleaning closet or provide room in the kitchen drawers because utensils could be hung on the walls. Dad might also like one in his workshop for hammers, saws and other tools.

A space saving idea for crowded kitchen counters is a canister set on a lazy susan. Rather than having four separate containers, each taking up space around it to be displayed on the counter, why not get one of the new canister sets which are composed of separate sections, each one-third or one-fourth of a cylinder? When combined on the lazy susan base, they form one large circular canister but each holds a different ingredient. Some sections even stack on top of each other so that tea or coffee can be stored in smaller quantities than sugar or flour. These handy canister sets come in enameled steel or plastic in a wide range of prices and colors.

If you fear slippery bathtubs or have children or older persons in your home who might slip in the tub, don't put an ugly rubber mat on the floor of the tub to insure their safety. Instead, use strips of soft textured rubber with adhesive backing. These strips aren't just ordinary rubber however, they are patterned with brightly colored flowers with graceful green stems and leaves. You might even want to put some on the outside of the bathtub for decorations.

Christmas is approaching and if you are shopping for stocking stuffers and those last minute presents for club gift exchanges, consider a convenient little gadget that will make life easier for the receiver. We will try to keep you posted on some of the new items on the market. All items mentioned are available in Lincoln stores. For additional information, call The Lincoln Star Women's Department.

Planners Back 70th, Van Dorn Zoning Change

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning-Commission Wednesday recommended approval of multiple dwelling zoning northeast of the intersection of 70th and Van Dorn.

Approval of the requested C multiple zoning by the City Council would clear the way for development of a 173-unit apartment complex on the 7.8 acre site by Lincoln realtor Angelo Manzitto and Omahan Louis Nigro.

Most of the property covered under the rezoning petition is now zoned for G local business use and the remainder is zoned A-1 single family.

A smaller corner tract located directly on the northeast corner of the intersection is zoned for business use and is the proposed site for a service station.

Wednesday's vote was the third taken by the commission on the rezoning petition, which was recommended for denial by the planning department partially on the basis that the department sees "no need for apartment districts in this area."

The first two commission votes failed to attract a majority of the nine members either for or against the request.

The vote for approval Wednesday was 6-2, with commission members Steve Cook and Adam Breckenridge voting no. Frank White abstained from voting. In favor were Chairman Ed Perry, Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller, Robert Allington, George Williamson, George David and Jerome Warner.

In other action, the commission deferred a recommendation on the preliminary and final plats of Gateway Terrace, a proposed apartment subdivision at 62nd and Cotner owned by Bankers Life Insurance Co. of Nebraska.

The commission asked for a redrafting of the plot plans to show the location of utilities, the relocation of interior roadways and, access to public streets and the location of curb cuts on periphery roads.

Don H. Knott, Bankers Life vice president in charge of mortgage loans and real estate, asked for the "cooperation" of the commission and planning department in speoling out plat requirements.

Knott told the commission that there has been "an inordinate delay" in processing the plats once zoning was obtained.

"Our proposal was initiated a year ago," Knott said. "We've been marking time for a year without getting anywhere."

Other planning commission recommendations:

—Change of zone from B two family dwelling to I commercial on the north side of Pear St. east of 27th, requested by Claude A. Reed, approved.

—Change of zone from A-2 single family to H-2 highway commercial and a special permit to operate a trailer court, requested by Karl Witt, deferred.

—Special permit to operate and maintain a nursery school and recreation center at NW 24th and West Q, requested by B. J. Crow, approved.

—Proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance allowing photography studios as permitted uses in the F restricted commercial zoning districts, denied.

—Proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance permitting signs on non-conforming uses under certain conditions, approved as amended.

—Sale of city property at 9th and Nelson, approved.

—Preliminary plat, Colonial Hills 1st addition, 61st and Pioneers Blvd., denied, new plat proposed.

—Preliminary plat, Saddle Hills addition, 60th and Old Cheney Road, approved.

Governor Tabs Althouse Again

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Wednesday announced the reappointment of George Althouse of Omaha to the Nebraska Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Althouse, an employee representative on the commission, will serve a new term expiring in September 1971.

Chamber To Hear Report On Road Study

Lincoln Chamber of Commerce members will hear an explanation by State Sen. Jerome Warner of the Legislative Council's report on the Nebraska Road Study at a meeting Dec. 5.

Carl Chloupek, manager of the chamber's Lincoln Metropolitan Transit Council, urged the chamber's executive board and ten committees affected by the report to hear what he termed "far-reaching recommendations" affecting Lincoln and the entire state.

Chloupek said that an ad hoc group comprised of members of the streets and highways committees of the Lincoln and Omaha chambers have given the Legislative Council's report "wholehearted endorsement as a first step."

Out-going president Percy Mays announced Wednesday that the chamber will honor Dr. Joseph Soshnik, new president of the University of Nebraska's Lincoln campus, at a reception at the University Club Dec. 11th.

New chamber officers and directors will be installed at the annual dinner Dec. 18th.

Johnson Considering Special Session

© New York Times Service

San Antonio — The White House confirmed Wednesday that President Johnson was sounding the sentiment for a pre-Christmas session of the Senate to ratify the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

Johnson warned, through a press aide, that delay by the United States could encourage further delay by other nations that have not ratified the treaty.

In Washington, Senate leaders continued to react coolly to a special session. Senate Democratic aides found sentiment among Democratic senators running 2 to 1 against it.

Chance Slight

There was a strong feeling in the Senate that Johnson had little chance of pushing through the treaty before the expiration of his term Jan. 20 without the support of President-elect Nixon.

Nixon helped block ratification during the election campaign by arguing that Senate approval might be interpreted as softness in the U.S. reaction to the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Tom Johnson, deputy White House press secretary, said the President had not decided on calling a special session and that his decision would depend on many things.

"I am sure the President is glad to have the opinion of the senators on what could be accomplished on this," the press aide said, reading from a prepared statement. "The President considers the non-proliferation treaty a most important matter and he is fearful that the delay in the Senate may encourage delay by other nations."

Officials Concerned

The President and officials of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency are said to be concerned over the opposition to the treaty that is building up in such countries as West Germany, Italy, Israel, Japan and India, the key non-nuclear countries.

Disarmament agency officials fear that if the United States does not ratify the treaty before the Nixon administration begins, the reluctant nations will begin raising once more all the questions they have already threshed out with the Johnson administration.

Meanwhile, in New York, Nixon's press spokesman, Ronald Ziegler, said that Nixon would have no objection to a special session but that his views on the non-proliferation treaty had not changed.

Statement Recalled

Ziegler recalled Nixon's statement that "there is only one president at a time," declared that Johnson was constitutionally free to take any presidential action he saw fit before Jan. 20, and said, "Mr. Johnson would not be interfered with."

However, he said, nothing had occurred "at this point, or up to this point that would alter (Nixon's) point of view" — namely, that ratification should be delayed.

But Ziegler left open the possibility of a change of attitude on Nixon's part, indicating that Nixon would reexamine his position if and when a special session of Congress was actually called.

Britain Ratifies Nonproliferation Nuclear Treaty

London (AP) — Britain ratified Wednesday the treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons and urged other nations to follow suit quickly.

Fred Mulley, minister of state at the foreign office, told the House of Commons he expected the United States to ratify the treaty "before too long."

Before the treaty can take effect it must be ratified by the three depository powers — Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union — and by 40 other nations.

So far Britain is the only depository power to ratify.

23,000 Pounds Clothes Collected To Send Overseas

North Platte (AP) — Lutheran churches in west central Nebraska collected nearly 23,000 pounds of clothing in the annual Thanksgiving clothing appeal for Lutheran World Relief, chairman Ed Launer has announced.

The clothing was loaded at several points including Scottsbluff, Ogallala, Sidney, North Platte and Cozad for shipment by rail to Middlesex, N.J., for distribution overseas.

EISAKU SATO

Nixon Eager To Have Line To Red China

New York (AP) — Retired career diplomat Robert D. Murphy, President-elect Richard M. Nixon's go-between with the Johnson administration, reported Wednesday Nixon will snap up an offer by Communist China to resume informal talks with American diplomats in Warsaw.

Talking to newsmen after what he termed "a fairly routine hour" with Nixon, Murphy said that as president, Nixon would instruct his ambassador to Poland to go ahead with the talks suggested to begin Feb. 20.

Murphy described the currently-suspended ambassadorial contacts in Warsaw as "a useful channel."

Murphy said he did not know whether Nixon would nominate a new ambassador to Poland following his taking office Jan. 20.

Goal Of Strengthened Japan Implied

© New York Times Service

Tokyo — Premier Eisaku Sato, at a news conference following his re-election as president of the Liberal Democratic Party earlier Wednesday, hinted he would use his mandate to seek an increase in Japan's military strength.

Commenting on his goals after his re-election, a success which means he will almost certainly continue as premier for two more years, Sato declared that he was determined to attain the "complete independence" of Japan.

True independence, he said, means the return to Japan of Okinawa, now administered by the United States, and the former Japanese territories in the Kurile Islands, now occupied by the Soviet Union.

Security Problem

However, Sato noted—by implication—that the withdrawal of the U.S. from Okinawa would raise new security problems for Japan.

Therefore, in order to secure independence, the people of Japan should have the spirit to defend their own country by their own hands, he declared.

He added he would not say that Japan should arm itself with nuclear weapons in order to achieve independence.

Sato also said he is planning a major reshuffling of his cabinet. He said he would announce the composition of a new "action cabinet" in the near future.

Immediately after the balloting, the secretary general of the Japan Socialist Party, the leading opposition party, charged that Sato is planning to co-operate with the Nixon administration by turning Japan into an anti Communist military base in Asia.

Early End Seen

The Socialist spokesman, Saburo Eda, predicted that this "reactionary" policy would force him to step down as premier before his two-year term has expired.

The 67-year-old premier won a surprisingly easy victory in his bid for a third term as chief of the Liberal Democratic Party.

Although stiff competition was expected from two challengers, Sato won on the first ballot, garnering 249 votes compared to 107 for former Foreign Minister Takeo Miki and 95 for the former minister of international trade and industry, Shigesaburo Maeo.

Traore Promises Mali Referendum

Bamako, Mali (AP) —Lt. Moussa Traore, head of the military committee that ousted President Modibo Keita last week, has promised in a public speech that a referendum on a new Mali constitution will be held in the first half of next year.

He added that legislative elections would follow and then perhaps a presidential election.

Western Nations Said Witnessing 'Birth Pangs Of New Monetary System'

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The economic union of Western nations is witnessing "the very early birth pangs of a new international monetary system very much like domestic, managed systems," in the view of a University of Nebraska economist.

The decade-long crisis affecting the international monetary order, as expressed by present efforts to shore up the French franc, prior devaluation of the British pound sterling and a recurring decrease in prestige of the U.S. dollar, is pointing to an ultimate breakdown of the system used by Western nations since the end of World War II, according to Dr. Wallace Peterson.

"What is really needed," the chairman of the NU department of economics said, "is a full-fledged world conference to create an international supply of money that can be increased or decreased as needed."

It has been proposed that the International Monetary Fund (IMF) be given authority to "create money" in the form of freely accepted international reserves and thus take the burden off the most overworked national currencies in the fund — the U.S. dollar and the British pound.

Gold Reserve

The fund now provides a reserve of gold and national currencies — deposited under a quota system — that member states can draw upon to cope with temporary shortages of a particular type of foreign exchange.

The fund cannot "create money" as do domestic monetary systems through their central banks.

The new system would include a change in the old exchange rates and "will involve the surrender of some sovereignty by the member states," something they have been unwilling to do, Peterson said.

"Nations do very well managing their own money within their boundries. Domestically, in a managed monetary system, nations can increase or decrease the supply of money through a central banking system, but there is not that power internationally," he explained.

"Internationally, the Western economic system is about where the United States was before the federal reserve system."

"People have to understand," he said, "we do manage our money supply."

'Breaking Down'

The current temporary measures taken by Western countries to stabilize the set values of their national currencies are attempts "to keep the system going and it is breaking down," Peterson asserted.

The worst that can happen, but not the probable, if the present international monetary system completely collapsed, would be "a resurgance of economic nationalism such as in the 1930's," he pointed out.

"This would be disastrous to everyone — a breakdown of the network of trade and payments."

"It would have an impact on the level of prosperity in this country in rising levels of unemployment and a recession. We can't be prosperous if the rest of our trading world isn't," Peterson said.

"The real beneficiaries of this problem are those who are not so friendly to us — Russia and the Eastern bloc.

Caste Gets Help

New Delhi (AP) — Parliament has approved appointment of a committee to watch over the welfare of India's 70 million untouchables. The practice of untouchability, keeping the castes apart from normal human relationships, long has been outlawed but still exists, MPs pointed out.

Man Enters Guilty Plea To Check Charge

A 29-year-old rural Lincoln man charged in connection with an alleged check writing scheme a year ago involving two Lincoln banks pleaded guilty to obtaining money by false pretenses in Lancaster District Court Wednesday.

Judge Herbert Ronin deferred sentencing Donald G. McDonald pending an investigation by the adult probation office.

McDonald, who had pleaded innocent to the charge May 7, allegedly obtained $61,000 by false pretenses from the National Bank of Commerce Sept. 19, 1967.

He allegedly deposited six checks in the bank under the name of a local firm and then withdrew a $61,000 cashier's check made payable to a second Lincoln bank.

He allegedly deposited the cashier's check at the second bank and withdrew $5,000 in cash and cashier's check for $45,000.

Hearing Slated For Man Held On Check Charge

A man who allegedly used a fraudulent $8,474 check last week to purchase a new Lincoln Continental Mark III was arraigned in Lancaster County Court Wednesday and requested a preliminary hearing on the felony charge.

James P. Davis, 55, was specifically charged with passing a $8,474 insufficient fund check to Dean Brothers Lincoln-Mercury Inc. Nov. 19. Judge Ralph Slocum set hearing for Dec. 11 and bond was set at $5,000.

According to police reports, Davis claimed to be employed by an airline and was in the Lincoln area to hire personnel and told the car salesman that the car was to be used by a 26-year-old female companion whom he claimed he had met and hired at a local employment agency.

Davis, who was arrested in Leavenworth, Kan., allegedly wrote the check on the Kalihu Branch of the First National Bank of Hawaii.

Emergency Services Division Formed

Dr. Lynn W. Thompson, state health director, Wednesday announced the formation of the Division of Emergency Health Services in a further division realignment of the Department of Health.

The new, expanded division replaces the former Division of Health Mobilization, he said, and aligns with a similar program of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Thompson said the new division will head medical and public health planning for all emergencies from traffic accidents to major disasters.

He said the division is currently making a statewide survey of ambulance facilities and attendant training. Also under study is a special radio frequency for use by hospitals, ambulances and medical personnel involved in emergency care of accident and disaster victims.

Dr. Thompson said hospitals in strategic areas of the state have received critical medical supplies and equipment through three programs administered by the division.

One is the "packaged disaster hospital," which enables a hospital to increase its capabilities by 200 additional beds plus basic hospital equipment, supplies and medicines.

He said a 50-bed hospital, transportable by truck or helicopter, is stored in Lincoln for emergency use in a disaster area.

Nebraska's two medical colleges have agreed to provide standby staffs, which could be flown to the location.

Dr. Thompson said 30-day backup stock of medical supplies for disaster casualty care have been placed in nine hospitals across the state.

The new division is headed by Milton S. Parker.

Board May Soon Decide Future Of Old Lincoln General Hospital

Future use, if any, of the old Lincoln General Hospital will be considered at length and possibly decided at the Dec. 27 meeting of the hospital's board of trustees, it was announced Wednesday.

Board president Herb Hopkins said that preliminary reports from architectural analysts indicate possible mechasical problems in the building if attempts are made to use it again.

Because remodeling costs would be excessive to make the 40-year-old building meet certain standards for use as a nursing home, for elderly persons or senior citizens lease-rent housing, it may be decided to raze the structure, Hopkins noted.

The trustees meeting Wednesday were told that the hospital has created a department of inhalation therapy due to exceptional growth of the year-old service. The department, headed by Arlan Stromberg, provides treatment for respiratory disorders using medical equipment and gases such as oxygen.

Administrator Robert Brungard told the board that the final installment of federal Hill-Burton funds for the new hospital construction is expected any time. The promised check of $268,000 will bring the total Hill-Burton funds received by the hospital to $2,070,472, only $33,000 less that the hospital expected to receive, he said.

Brungard also announced that during September the average daily census for the hospital was 172 patients, an increase of 31 patients per day over last year during the same month.

The number of births exceeded 1967 totals by 50%, he said. Thirty registered nurses plus other personnel were added during the month.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield presented plaques to the hospital's administrators, board members and medical staff, citing the group for its new building "providing modern health care in 1968."

Wanted His Lunch

Depression Gangster Karpis Is To Be Paroled, Deported

Washington (UPI) — Alvin Karpis, who reigned as public enemy No. 1 in the days of Clyde until he was personally captured by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, will be paroled from a kidnaping sentence and deported to Canada, the government announced Wednesday.

The U.S. Parole Board said that Karpis, now 60, would be released from the federal penitentiary at McNeil Island, Wash., on Jan. 14 and escorted across the border to Canada where he was born. He will not be permitted to re-enter the United States without the board's written permission.

The parole frees the famed outlaw of the 1930s after he served 32 years of a life sentence for conspiring to kidnap in the 1933 abduction of William Hamm Jr., a wealthy St. Paul, Minn., businessman.

As leader of the marauding Karpis-Barker gang of the Depression, "Creepy" Karpis had threatened to kill Hoover because the FBI chief constantly referred to him publicly as a "rat."

Hoover responded to the boast by making the first physical arrest of a criminal in his career after three-year manhunt for Karpis.

Hoover, 73, has been director of the FBI since it was organized in 1924. He was 41 at the time of the Karpis arrest.

The gang was reputed to have killed 10 persons in their bank robbery and other criminal forays.

Hoover's arrest of Karpis came after Hamm was abducted in 1933 and released after payment of a $100,000 ransom

Hoover had issued instructions that he wanted to be notified of any information about the hunt for Karpis. When the ganster was spotted living in a Canal Street apartment in New Orleans, Hoover flew there with a squad of special agents to supervise the capture.

When Karpis came out of the building and climbed into his car, Hoover ran to the left side of the auto and his companion circled to the right. Hoover reached into the car and grabbed Karpis before the fugitive could reach for a rifle on the back seat.

Broke Ohio School Board Closes Doors To 27,000

Youngstown, Ohio (AP) — The Youngstown School Board, its coffers almost empty, sent more than 27,000 school children home Wednesday and locked up the schools for the rest of the year.

Meanwhile, school administrators are trying to locate enough money to keep the public school buses running to continue transporting parochial school children to their classes.

School Sutp. Woodrow W. Zinser appealed to Dr. Martin Essex, state superintendent of education in Columbus, for payment of about $7,000 which the state owes the Youngstown schools for transporting the parochial pupils during September and October. Zinser said this is the only source of money he knows of at present to keep the buses running in December.

To Make Up

But the public school students apparently will have to make up the missed school days. The attorney general's office in Columbus ruled Wednesday that the Youngstown board of education may amend its school calandar and require teachers to work next June instead of next month.

In an opinion requested by Essex, the attorney general also ruled that nonteaching employes may be laid off for the month of December without violating Ohio civil service regulations.

The same opinion also held that auxiliary and transportation services for nonpublic school students must be continued during December even if public schools remain closed.

Taxes Too Low

The school board said it ran out of money because tax rates, which have not increased in five years, are too low. The last six new school levy proposals were rejected by Youngstown voters.

The board has borrowed $1.5 million from banks since August, but the banks have refused further credit. School officials hope to reopen classrooms Jan. 2 by borrowing money against taxes to be collected next year.

The schools may face further troubles if they are unable to operate long enough next spring to fulfill requirements for regular state support payments. The statutory requirement is for 180 days of school in the school year.

Mexican Youths Contest Strike In Street Battle

Mexico City (AP) — Youths determined to keep up Mexico's four-month student strike battled with clubs and chains Wednesday against students returning to preparatory school classes, police said. Shooting broke out and one student died of a bullet wound in the head.

Police said about 30 other students were injured in the melee and three persons were arrested.

A police spokesman said groups of youths arrived at Preparatory School No. 5, on the southeast side of the city, to try to prevent a return to classes by students opposing the strike that began July 31.

Food Consumption

Washington — Per capita food consumption in the United States last year was about 1,,434 pounds, up from 1,422 pounds in 1966.

Bishop Flavin Says Couples Can't Decide On Sin

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

The recent pastoral letter by American Roman Catholic bishops does not let the couple practicing birth control decide if a sin requiring confession has been committed.

That was the statement Wednesday of Lincoln Bishop Glennon P. Flavin, who supported the pastoral letter (adopted 180-8) and whose views are known to closely follow those of Pope Paul.

The U.S. bishops' statement "does not give the implication" that bishops left it up to each couple to decide whether a sin has been incurred by using birth control pills or other artificial devices, Bishop Flavin said.

According to him, "the bishops came out very positively against birth control, stating that it was a moral evil. The Holy Father made it very clear that it was wrong, and the bishops (of the U.S.) back him 100%."

'Authoritative'

The bishops' pastoral letter, which will soon be distributed to Lincoln Catholic priests, points out that the Pope's encyclical on Human Life (Humane Vitae) is "an authoritative statement solemnly interpreting imperatives which are divine rather than ecclesiastical in origin. It presents without ambiguity, doubt or hestiation the authentic teaching of the Church" concerning the "objective evil" of contraception.

According to Bishop Flavin, the pastoral letter indicates that the Pope's encyclical "does not undertake to judge the consciences of individuals but to set forth the authentic teaching of the church which Catholics believe interprets the divine law to which conscience should be conformed."

The statement added that "spouses should be aware that they cannot proceed arbitrarily. They must always be governed according to a conscience dutifully conformed to the divine law itself and should be submissive toward the church's teaching office which authentically interprets that law."

The Lincoln bishop also indicated that it would be a "misinterpretation" of the pastoral letter to say that a Catholic couple who decide to practice contraception should not feel cut off from the church and its sacraments.

The bishops did take as their own counsel the compassion of the Pope for the human condition which is "often caught in agonizing crises of conscience," it was pointed out.

The pastoral letter called on married couples to "implore divine assistance by persevering prayer" and to "draw from the source of grace and charity" in communion.

'Objective Evil'

But, the bishops reminded couples that "however circumstances may reduce moral guilt, no one following the teaching of the church can deny the objective evil of artificial contraception itself."

Couples who have resorted to artificial contraception are urged to "never lose heart but to continue to take full advantage of the strength which comes from the sacrament of penance and the grace, healing, and peace in the Eucharist."

The act of receiving sacraments, it was emphasized, demands the intention to stop a sinful practice.

Texas Company Submits Low Bid For Switch Gears

A Texas firm was the apparent low bidder Wednesday to supply current-control switch gears to the Lincoln Electric System.

Powell Electric Co. submitted the low bid of $34,830, followed by McGraw-Edison, $38,700; ITE Corp., $40,489; General Electric $42,405 and Westinghouse Electric, $40,489.

—Hydraulic derrick and pole digger: Northwest Tel-E-Lect, $19,699; Causco, Inc., $20,024; Omaha Body Co., $20,384 and Holan Co., $20,664.

—Aerial elbow for truck platform: Badger Body Co., $10,690; Causco, Inc., $14,149 and Holan, Inc., $23,195.

Texas A&M Can Block Texas' Berth In Cotton

...Two Pro Games Also On Television Today

By Associated Press

Texas is looking forward to a share of the Southwest Conference championship and the Cotton Bowl but all Tulsa wants to do is wipe away some of the humiliation.

Texas can achieve both of their goals Thursday by beating Texas A&M. The game will be nationally televised by ABC starting at 2 p.m., CST.

Tulsa won't be able to do too much to erase the bad taste of last Saturday's game, but a victory over Wichita State would help.

The Hurricanes played potent Houston last week and came out on the low end of a 100-6 score. Their only consolation this week is that Wichita State hasn't won a game in nine starts.

Tulsa has won two games, defeating Southern Illionois 30-3 and Cincinnati 34-27. Cincinnati, on the other hand, downed Wichita 40-27.

Texas is the nation's sixth-ranked team and has a 7-1-1 record. The only trouble is, in the conference race, the Longhorns are one-half game behind first-place Arkansas, which has completed its season.

A victory would give the Longhorns a tie for the title and the Cotton berth because they already have beaten Arkansas. A loss or a tie, however, would give them a share of second place and the possible consolation of a trip to the Sugar Bowl.

Standing in Texas' way is Edd Hargett. He's the Texas A&M quarterback, and he's one of the more dangerous offensive threats around.

For example, in last year's game between the two teams, Hargett threw a 70-yard touchdown pass to Bob Long that dumped Texas 10-7 and put the Aggies in the Cotton Bowl for the first time in 26 years.

This year A&M is only 3-6, but Hargett ranks eighth in the nation in total offense with 2,177 yards —2,100 through the air — and has thrown 14 TD tosses.

The major threat for Texas is Chris Gilbert, who has reached the 1,000-yard mark in rushing for the third straight season. His 1968 total going into Thursday's contest is 1,047.

In other Thursday games, Virginia Tech meets VMI and Louisiana Tech hosts New Mexico State at night.

Pro football fans will have a doubleheader holiday treat to go with their turkey dinner Thursday with National Football League action at Detroit and Dallas and American Football League games at Kansas City and Oakland.

Detroit, traditionally the site of a noon-time game on Thanksgiving Day, hopes to push winless Philadelphia (0-11) another step along the road toward the No. 1 draft choice and O. J. Simpson. The Lions (3-6-1) have been having their troubles with Mel Farr out for the year and quarterback Bill Munson on the questionable list.

After the 11:15 p.m. CST game in Detroit, NFL fans can take a brief rest before the Columbia Broadcasting System brings in the Dallas Cowboys (9-2) and Washington Redskins (4-7) from the Cotton Bowl at 5 p.m. CST.

The Eastern Division title in the AFL could be clinched by idle New York if the Houston Oilers (5-6) lose at Kansas City (9-2) in the first half of the AFL doubleheader, starting at 1:30 p.m. on the National Broadcasting Company network.

Oakland (9-2), tied with Kansas City for the Western Division lead with three to play, will know before it takes the field at home against Buffalo (1-10-1) at 3 p.m. CST whether it can take over the undisputed lead or needs a victory to remain tied with the Chiefs.

The other pro football teams will be idle until Sunday. The Lions, Eagles, Cowboys, Redskins, Raiders and Bills will be playing their second game in five days Thursday.

It was the Lions who started the Eagles on their long losing season in an exhibition game Aug. 11 at Philadelphia. This was the game, originally scheduled for Mexico City, but moved to Franklin Field at the last minute. The Eagles not only lost, 20-3, but their quarterback, Norm Snead, suffered a broken ankle on the first play.

Snead has been back now for a few weeks but the Eagle offense has been impotent, scoring only 144 points in 11 games, low in the league. Snead hit with 27 of 48 passes last Sunday against Cleveland but had three intercepted in a 47-13 rout.

Detroit had to settle for a 20-20 tie with New Orleans and the injury report lists Munson, defensive back Lem Barney, tight end Charlie Sanders and linebacker Wayne Walker as questionable.

Dallas can take a step closer to the Capitol Division championship by repeating its Nov. 17 romp over the Redskins, 44-24. Don Meredith, injured in that game, is expected back after missing Sunday's game in Chicago. The Cowboys ran over the Redskins in their first meeting with both Don Perkins and Craig Baynham rolling up big yardage.

Adding to Washington's troubles is the doubtful status of quarterback Sonny Jurgensen who missed Tuesday's practice with a 103-degree fever, apparently a victim of the flu bug that struck the Minnesota Vikings last weekend.

The AFL game at Houston is a must affair for both clubs. Neither team played last Sunday. The Oilers can't afford to lose or they will be eliminated in their almost hopeless chase of the Jets in the East.

If the Chiefs and Raiders win, as expected, they will go into the last two games tied. Kansas City will play at San Diego and at Denver. Oakland will play Denver at home and close it out at San Diego which is only one game back at 8-3.

Maturity Is Expected To Boost East In Search For Winning Cage Year

. . . SPARTANS DEBUT DEC. 7 AGAINST SOUTHEAST

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

East High, in its first year of operation, didn't win a single football game. Coach Paul Forch's basketball team managed but a single victory.

If this fall's success on the gridiron can be used as a measuring stick, Spartan foes had better watch out when the roundball season opens.

Forch is busy preparing his cagers for their 1968-69 debut against Lincoln Southeast at Pershing Auditorium, Saturday, Dec. 7.

Operating with a unit comprised almost entirely of sophomores last year, Forch has only three seniors on his 12-player squad this winter. The rest are juniors.

"The added maturity will help us a lot," Forch said. "We're looking for a better inside game, more aggressive action around the backboards."

The Spartan hoop boss pointed out that though East was "in the ball game until the late stages on many occasions last year, the lack of rebounding strength hurt us. We never got that second offensive shot and you just can't win without them."

Returning letterman Tom Slaughter is getting some welcome rebounding help from 6-4, 195-pound, Stan Hegener, up from last year's reserves.

"We're really quite encouraged," Forch admitted, "the toughest thing we face is trying to get off to a good start. We go against some tough teams right off the bat. We need to establish some momentum. These boys need to learn to win. Once they have, the victories will come easier."

Two lettermen from last season, who are counted on heavily, aren't shown on the roster yet as they recover from football injuries. "Tony Contreras and Bob Abbott are still question marks," Forch said, "but we hope to have them both before too long."

At present Barry Blue and Paul Malone are operating in the backcourt. Dave Fischbach, Bruce Northrop and Rich Butler are battling Slaughter and Hegener up front.

The complete varsity roster and East High schedule follows.

Roster

Player	Ht.	Wt.	Yr.
Barry Blue	6-0	173	11
Dave Fischbach	6-3½	175	11
Rich Butler	6-3	155	12

Rod Laver Top-Seeded In Net Meet

New York (AP) — Australia's Rod Laver, a loser in his last three tournaments, still was rated the man to beat in the $20,000 Madison Square Garden Invitation Tennis Tournament starting this evening.

Laver was seeded first for the eight-man, three-day tournament that has a field of top talent from the two rival pro tennis organizations — World Tennis Championship and National Tennis League.

Despite his defeats, Laver is the No. 1 money winner of the NTL with almost $66,000. Tony Roche, a 23-year-old Aussie who is seeded third, has won $58,000. The seeded four are all Australians. Ken Rosewall is No. 2 and John Newcombe No. 4.

All eight will play today in matches starting at 4 p.m., CST.

They will play in the following order:

Roche vs Denny Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif.; Laver vs. Butch Buchholz, St. Louis; Rosewall vs. Pancho Gonzalez, Los Angeles, and Newcombe vs. Andres Gimeno, Spain.

The semifinals will start at 5 p.m. Friday followed by doubles matches.

The tournament will finish Saturday afternoon with the program starting at noon. The last day's events will open with the playoff for third place followed by the singles final and then the doubles final.

The singles winner will earn $5,000. The other prizes are $3,000 for second, $1,800 for third, $1,400 for fourth and $1,200 for each first round loser. In doubles, the winning team will get $2,000 and the runnersup $1,000. Each first round losing team will get $500.

Denny Gets Big Raise In New Pact

Detroit (AP) — Detroit's Denny McLain reached agreement on his 1969 contract with the Tigers Wednesday, and although terms were not announced, it was estimated the 31-game winner received a $55,000 raise.

McLain's new salary was pegged at about $85,000, compared with the $30,000 he reportedly made last year.

Jim Campbell, general manager for the world champion Tigers who announced the signing of McLain and five other players, wouldn't disclose any salaries because, "I feel their contracts are their own personal information.

"I feel very strongly about this, and I won't give out contract information on any player. Use any figures you want" for McLain's salary, he added. "I won't say whether it's high or low, I'm sorry."

McLain was not present when Campbell made the announcement. His whereabouts were unknown.

Also reaching terms were second baseman Dick McAuliffe, centerfielder Mickey Stanley and rookie pitchers Norm McRae, Mike Kilkenny and Mike Small.

McLain, 24, became Detroit's biggest winner of all time with his 31-6 record this year, helping the Tigers to their first World Series since 1945. He had a 1.96 earned-run-average and was the unanimous choice for the Cy Young Award as best American League pitcher and the AL's Most Valuable Player.

Colorado, Drake Harrier Favorites

New York (AP) — Colorado and Drake were favored to battle for team honors Thursday in the United States Track and Field Federation's seventh annual cross country championships at Van Cortlandt Park.

Arjan Gelling of North Dakota will defend his individual title. He is expected to be pressed hard by a big field that includes Jerry Richey of Pittsburgh, sixth in last Monday's NCAA championship over the same course.

Steve Barthold, coach of St. John's of New York, said more than 300 harriers have been entered. St. John's is the host for the meet and Barthold is the meet director.

—BUFFS BOAST 7-2 SOPHOMORE—

Tall Newcomers Compensate For Colorado's Inexperience

Statisticaly speaking, Colorado has lost more scoring punch than any other Big Eight basketball team.

How then can Sox Walseth's coaching compatriots categorize the Buffs, 3-11 in conference play a year ago, as possible title contenders this year?

Obviously they're going on the theory that it's what's up front that counts. In 6-7 junior college transfer Cliff Meely, 7-2 sophomore Ron Smith and 6-6 sophomore Tim Wedgeworth, Colorado has an impressive array of new talent for the front line.

As usual, however, you can't come to any conclusions about Colorado until the Big Eight race actually begins.

"We're kind of in a state of flux. It will take us a while to figure out what we've got," says Walseth. "We do have more size and good potential, but we're very young and inexperienced."

Of the six lettermen returning, 5-11 junior Gordon Tope is likely to be the most prominent. He played in all 25 games last year and Walseth expects to employ the quick backcourt veteran as the "quarterback" of the offense.

The other five veterans — Mike Coleman (6-4), Ted Erfert (6-8), Lloyd Hutchinson (6-4), Bruce Hyink (6-10) and Mickey Kern (5 11) — all started at one time or another last year so there is not a complete absence of experience.

When January comes, however, it will likely be the newcomers who are carrying the load.

Smith could be a standout, even though lacking experience. "He's awfully skinny," says Walseth, "but he has good actions and quickness."

Meely is regarded as one of the best junior college transfers in the conference. "He'll see a lot of action," smiles Walseth.

Wedgeworth adds punch to the forward corps and Dudley Mitchell (6-3), son of ex-baseballer Dale Mitchell, is regarded by many Colorado backers as the equal of departed Pat Frink as a shooter.

As to the progress the Buffs might make, Sox says, "I think we can improve our record this year, but we need a lot more breaks than we got last year. We lost seven games by five points or less. If we can win seven by that margin this year, we might get somewhere."

State Junior College Cage Tourney Set This Weekend

. . . McCOOK, WESTERN GET OPENING BYES

Defending champion McCook and Nebraska Western drew first round byes in the six-team Junior College Tournament at Fairbury Friday and Saturday as the state's two-year schools open their cage seasons.

Norfolk meets North Platte in the tourney opener at 1 p.m. Friday with York taking on Fairbury at 3 p.m. McCook meets the first game winner at 7 p.m. that evening and Nebraska Western tangles with the second game survivor at 9 p.m.

Losers bracket games are at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday, the consolation game is at 7 p.m. and the championship contest will be at 9 p.m.

It is difficult to estimate the strength of the junior colleges this year. Only York (18-7) and McCook (15-14) had winning seasons among the six clubs last year.

York will miss graduated Larry Olsen (6-7), but 6-4 Slim Goodman, who pulled down 194 rebounds and averaged 18.7 points a game in 1967, is back along with 6-1 Ken Ware (14.4) and 6-5 Greg Franz (8.7).

McCook loses its top two scorers including Ray Parson, the 6-6 star who averaged 19.2 points a game and snared 305 rebounds. Ron Acey, 6-5 forward (11.1), George Beamon, Lonnie Benedict and Barry Driscoll are the lettermen.

Another big point producer to be missed will be John Arnold at North Platte. However, Dick Kimbrough is very high on 6-2 Jim Jackson (15 points and 14 rebounds per game), 6-2 Shedrick Bell and 6-0 Fred Jones to make his club go.

There are five lettermen back at Norfolk, with 5-10 Omahan Bernie Boone leading the group. Also on hand is 5-10 John Butler and 6-2 Terry Went. The big news for the Blackhawks this year might be 6-9 all-stater Merlin Renner from Madison and 6-5 Jon Meyer of Battle Creek.

Ben Brown, a hot shooting 6-0 guard (20.8) will pace the Fairbury attack again this year along with 6-1 Charles Schlichtman (14.3). There are also three other returnees, Bob Gilmore, John Erhart and Gary Schoen.

Nebraska Western (formerly Scotts Bluff), has only three lettermen back — 6-5 Rick Gwaltney, 6-2 Bob Byrd and 5-10 John Dougherty. Coach Shelby Edwards said he will rely on some promising frosh this season.

Hunt Permit Demands Down 10% From 1967

By Associated Press

The sale of hunting permits has tailed off about 10 per cent so far this season and correspondingly, has put a dent in the Nebraska Game Comission's planned operations for 1968, Assistant Director Willard Barbee said

As of Nov. 22, 1967, the Game Commission took in $247,898 from the sale of non-resident hunting licenses. But the figure for the same date this year is off about $18,000 to $229,181.

A year ago non-resident and resident upland game bird stamp sales totaled 86,551 at this time. This year there have been 78,019 sold, Barbee reported.

Such a measuring device means there are at least 8,539 fewer sportsmen going for game in the state famed for its pheasant and quail hunting.

The 50-cent hike on resident hunting and fishing permits, the $1 raise on the combination of the two and the $5 boost in the cost of non-resident hunting permits has failed to offset the loss in numbers.

With those increases in the price of permits, a $50,000 gain might have been realized instead of the $18,000 drop.

The Game Commission operates primarily on the money received from the sale of hunting and fishing permits rather than a fixed sum from the general fund.

In making plans for 1968, Barbee said the agency anticipated more funds with the increased prices than are being realized.

The commission found a heavy upsurge of fishing licenses but that was expected after a poor 1967 season. An improved advertising campaign aided the 1968 season, Barbee said.

So, the commission is cinching up its fiscal belt, Barbee said.

"There are land acquisition projects we can't move on," he said. "In fact, we've gone into kind of an austerity program."

One reason is that the agency's cash reserve depleted with some "fairly heavy land acquisitions" in 1967, Barbee said.

Final computations on receipts from the hunting season won't be known until state-licensed vendors provide the complete returns. But Barbee speculated that chances for an upswing to a turnout comparable to the number of hunters last year is unlikely.

Resident fishing licenses — $390,578; $500,289.

Non-resident fishing licenses — $48,717; $53,988.

Pro Cage Crowds Value Their Sport

By ROBERT LIPSYTE

New York — The crowd at Knickerbocker home games is very sophisticated, filled with men who have played, watched and bet on basketball games since they were New York junior high school students, youngsters neatly bridging the generation gap by watching Oscar Robertson grow old instead of Al Cervi, and women who have become fans either to keep their men in sight or because they discovered that for sheer action and very naked drama, the big men on the polished wooden dance floor are all by themselves in team sports. The baseball players just spend too much time out there feeling the material of their uniforms, and the hockey players, for goodness sake, are skating around on ice, and the professional football players in their astronaut suits cannot be properly evaluated until they are replayed on video tape.

But the basketball players, scantily clad, their faces visible, the object of their game incredibly simple, are right out in the open. When they dog it, when they get sly or nasty, when one of them reaches in for that emergency gallon of energy that can change the course of a game, it is all there to see in the bottom of the fish bowl.

The crowd comes for this, and also for particular and sometimes very technical observations. With the Knickerbockers, the crowd is interested not only in the development of Bill Bradley, for example, but in his development within the frame work of this team which must use him at a forward position rather than guard, which, in turn, affects the dynamics among all the other players.

The last time the Knicks played at home, Tuesday night, there was an added attraction. The Los Angeles Lakers were the opponents, and that team has three of the best five or six players in the game, Elgin Baylor, Jerry West, and Wilt Chamberlain. The cognescenti did not turn out to see who would win the game, but how the three super stars would interact.

There has been something of a problem. Baylor, now 34, and West, 30, have been playing together for years. They are both magicians, Baylor silky and brilliant, West earnest and driving. Their game depends on the presence of a tall top hat standing near the foul line, popping balls instead of rabbits to them as they weave and flash by. The Lakers have always been a contending team with their magicians, but never a champion, probably because they never came up with a top hat good enough.

At the moment, the Lakers have not exactly established patterns and rhythms. Chamberlain has seemed amenable to some change, but the Lakers spent too much money for him to be a top hat. Yet, when he goes under the basket he clogs up the area for Baylor and West. The critics at Madison Square Garden understood all this, and much more, and on a very theoretical level: with all their problems, the Lakers came tinto the game leading the Western Division of the National Basketball Association by four games.

With less than four minutes to go, Red Holzman, the Knick coach, ordered a zone press, a dangerous maneuver which either breaks the opposition or lets the game run away. Oppressed, the Lakers lost the ball several times, and with three minutes left their lead was cut to six points, 97-91.

Bradley, who had scored nine points in his previous 25 minutes of play, took a pass in the left corner and shot. The high arc, the clean drop, the happy snap through the net, and the stomping, shrieking, whistling began around the rim of the fishbowl. Walt Frazier ran down the middle of the court and feinted to his right, a move so deceptive that both teams and the crowd went right with his fake. Frazier, meanwhile, was alone on the left, making the score 97-95.

The Knicks now pulled ahead, Bradley sank two more jumpers from the sides for six points in 2 minutes, 53 seconds, and the final score was 104-100. An absolutely satisfying night and the crowd moved out slowly, chattering, awaiting for the juices to cool so it could return to the problems at hand. Where do you play Chamberlain, and, more important, with Bradley up front, do you use both Willis Reed and Walt Bellamy, and what about Cazzie Russell and . . . .?

Petty's Ford Debut To Be At Riverside

Charlotte, N.C. (AP) — Richard Petty said Wednesday his first race as a driver for Ford Motor Co. would be in the Riverside 500-miler Jan. 19.

Petty, who stunned the stock car racing world Tuesday by ending a 10-year association with Plymouth and signing a Ford contract, said he would drive a machine produced by Holman-Moody Co. of Charlotte in the Riverside race. Holman-Moody is Ford's racing outlet in Charlotte.

"We will build the engine for the Riverside car," Petty said, "But we don't have time to build a car. It's going to take me and the crew some time to get accustomed to Fords. Frankly, we don't know anything about them right now."

After the Riverside race, Petty said all of his Ford machines will be built at Petty engineering in his hometown of Randleman, N.C.

No details of Petty's contract with Ford for the 1969 Nascar season were released.

A source indicated, however, that the agreement with Ford called for a long term contract.

Petty said, "I wouldn't say the deal I have with Ford is a lot better financially than I had with Chrysler. But I think the potential is greater."

As the biggest winner in the history of big-time stock car racing, Petty said the switch from Plymouth to Ford "is simply a change in jobs."

Then, speaking of Ford Motor Co. President Semon E. "Bunky" Knudsen, Petty said, "Mr. Knudsen is vitally interested in racing and it's nice to know you're working for someone on that level who is."

Ronnie Householder, boss of the Chrysler Performance Division, said the association with Petty had been more than a business relationship. "We've been close friends for many years. The leaving creates a big hole in our operation. What we will do I don't know, but I still think we will be competitive and we'll certainly strive to beat the Pettys as we will Ford."

Another Chrysler Co. source said the offer from Ford "has to be fantastic. I really didn't think Ford could afford Petty."

Petty, one of the most popular drivers in Southern racing, expressed concern over the reaction of fans.

"I'd like to think most of my fans are Petty fans, not Plymouth," he said. "I want all to know I'll be driving a Ford, but I'll be running for Petty, out to beat everybody."

Hunting Report

SOUTHWEST

Good buildups of waterfowl at several reservoirs, including Enders with about 40,000 ducks offering shooting around the refuge, and Swanson with about 10,000 webfeet, are keeping hunters plenty busy. Platte River shooting is generally good, with frequent flights of ducks and geese. Lake Maloney and other open waters are also good bets for duck shooters. Pheasant and quail success varies, with some regions good and others fair.

PANHANDLE

The North Platte River is providing good action on ducks in most areas, while pheasant gunning is good in the northern and central portions of the region. Pheasant hunters are seeing fair numbers of birds, but most are flushing out of range. Large hunting parties are having the best success.

SOUTHEAST

Harvest progress and colder weather are bringing improved field conditions and hunter success. Hunters are averaging about one pheasant per man and quail, squirrel, and cottontail are combined in several mixed-bags. Big fields with plenty of cover are producing the best pheasant shooting. Duck hunters are finding activity on the Platte and Missouri rivers.

NORTHEAST

Hunters have been few and far between the past few days, but hunting pressure is expected to intensify this weekend. Boone County is providing the best shooting, with many ringnecks found loafing around heavy plum brush patches. Several limits of ducks have been taken on the Missouri River.

SAND HILLS

Freezing weather has moved many ducks out of the region. Geese, however, have been arriving recently and are providing shooting on portions of the Middle Loup River. Success on pheasants has been fair to good, with Holt and Boyd counties providing the best shooting.

Theft Charges Are Dismissed

Denver, Colo. (AP) — Charges of petty theft against Denver Bronco quarterback Marlin Brisco were dismissed Wednesday.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Norman Brown of Jefferson County said he conducted an investigation into charges of shoplifting against the American Football League player and concluded there was "no evidence of intent" in the case.

Briscoe had been charged with taking a record from a suburban Denver department store.

Six Unanimous On All-Star Club

Six players were unanimous choices to the eight-team Fort Kearney Conference all-star football team.

Sumner's Jim Cunningham and Dan Simmons were chosen on every ballot, along with John McClymont and Tom Ridenour of Loomis, Amherst's Scott Gillespie and Steve Bowie of Elm Creek.

ALL-STAR TEAM

Sumner — Jim Cunningham, Dan Simmons, Dick Porter, Vick Ronde, Dan John.
Loomis — John McClymont, Tom Ridenour, Jim Regelin, Tim McCracken.
Amherst — Scott Gillespie, Ken Bosshamer, Rod Schukar, Glenn Taubenheim.
Pleasanton — Dale Dehm, Paul Rassmussen, Randy Reissland.
Overton — Dennis Else, Gerrold Schroeder.
Elm Creek — Steve Bowie, Gary Halliwell.
Hildreth — Jim Jelkin, Dan Keiser.
Wilcox — David Liennemann.

The following applies to any point in Nebraska that is due north or due south of each of the cities and towns. For each 13 miles west of any designated city add one minute, and for each 13 miles east subtract one minute. Valentine and Scottsbluff schedules are Mountain Daylight Time. All others are Central Daylight Time. Hunters should set their watches according to the time zone in which they are hunting.

Sellers Big Catch For Pros, But Deacons Tired, Trying

By Associated Press

The pros can't wait to get their hands on Ron Sellers. Wake Forest's dazzled Deacons are tired of trying.

Sellers, the uncanny Florida State receiver who grabbed 14 passes, scored five touchdowns and shattered an all-time college mark in the Seminoles' 42-24 victory over Wake Forest last Saturday, was chosen Lineman of the Week Wednesday by The Associated Press.

The 6-foot-4 All-American, who operates at split end and flanker in Florida State's protype attack, left Wake Forest defenders sprawling in his wake while toting Bill Cappleman passes 26, 5, 48, 28 and 30 yards for scores.

Pro Football Playoffs Set

. . . AFL WEST TANGLED

New York (AP) — If two or more teams tie for a divisional title in the American Football League there will be a playoff. If there is a tie in a National Football League division there will be no playoff.

The AFL procedure is set for any eventuality in the Western Division where Oakland and Kansas City now are tied and San Diego is one game back.

If there is a two-way tie in the West, these are the possibilities for a game to be played the weekend of Dec. 21-22:

Kansas City at Oakland
San Diego at Kansas City
San Diego at Oakland

If there is a three-way tie it would be Oakland at Kansas City, the weekend of Dec. 21-22, with the winner playing at San Diego, Dec. 28-29.

Unless there is a three-way tie the league championship game will be played as scheduled Dec. 29 in the East. If it's a three-way tie the title game would be shoved back to Jan. 5. In any case the Super Bowl game still would be played Jan. 12 in Miami.

In the NFL, if two teams finish tied in one division, the team with the most total points in the games played between the two clubs will be the winner. This procedure was followed last year when Los Angeles and Baltimore tied in the Coastal Division at 11-1-2.

The Rams were given the title on the basis of their 34-10 victory over the Colts and 24-24 tie in regular season play. Los Angeles then went on to lose to Green Bay for the Western Conference crown.

If the two teams have identical points in their two games, the last of the two to play in a conference playoff game would be eliminated and the other declared the divisional champion.

If either of these factors are not applicable, the team that has played most recently in a league championship game would be eliminated and the other declared the winner.

It is mathematically possible, with three games to go, for a tie in any or all of the four divisions.

After the division titles have been won, the teams play off for the conference crown, Dec. 21 and Dec. 22 with the two winners meeting for the league championship Dec. 29 in the home park of the Eastern Conference champion.

Wayne Opens Mat Season Vs. K-State

Wayne — Wayne State College wrestling coach Don Pate likes to schedule tough opponents. Wrestlers learn more that way, even if they lose, he believes.

So the Wayne matmen will take on Kansas State University of the Big Eight for their season debut Friday night at 7:30 in Rice Gymnasium.

Pate finds a season forecast tricky after the 1967-68 campaign took his team to fourth place among 48 colleges in the National NAIA Meet. For his second year as Wayne mat mentor, he has nine lettermen, including four of the five who competed in the national tournament.

The lettered corps lists national 152-pound champion Larry Michelson, a senior from Jackson, Minn.; second-place heavyweight Tom Firestack, junior from Canon City, Colo.; fourth-place 123-pounder Bill Schwarz, senior from Cedar Rapids, Ia., and 145-pounder Steve Hanson, senior from Harlan, Ia., a first-round loser in the nationals. The only letterman lost to graduation was Jeff Meineke, who earned a fifth in the NAIA 130-pound class.

All four returnees have looked improved in practice, Pate reports.

The other five lettermen are Cal Johnson, senior from Worland, Wyo. 115-123 pounder; Dick Ferguson, senior from Forsyth, Mont., 130-137; John Yoder, junior from Woolstock, Ia., 160; Jack Vaughn, senior from Fort Dodge, Ia., 167-177; and Charlie Peters, Grundy Center, Ia., senior, 167. Peters currently is doing directed teaching and will not wrestle until second term.

Peru Eleventh In NAIA Run

Peru — The Peru State College cross country team tallied 309 points to end the 1968 season with an eleventh place finish in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championships in Oklahoma City. The Bobcats ended the year undefeated in regular-season competition and finished in the top 15 teams for the fifth straight year.

All-American Jack Weyers, the sophomore from Sterling, captured seventh place from among the 330 runners in the competition. The strong showing, an improvement of seven spots over last season, should again assure him of a spot on the NAIA all-American team. Jack's time of 24:12 over the five-mile course was just 30 seconds slower than the time of John Mason of Fort Hays (Kan.) State, the winner. Mason was an alternate on the United States Olympic team in the 1500 meters.

Others scoring for Peru include: team co-captain Van Allen, Nemaha, 41st; Dave Harris, Auburn, 50th; co-captain Dan Trout, Lewiston, 94th; Jay Hagerman, Humboldt, 116th; Ray Uher, Daykin, 118th; and Ron Jones, Red Oak, Ia., 125th.

The team championship was captured by Fort Hays State with 106 points, while Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia was second with 110, and Eastern Michigan U. finished third with 126. Other Nebraska schools were: Kearney State, 18th (506 points); Wayne State, 24th (645); UN Omaha, 28th, (776).

Wayne Gridders Get Scholarships

Wayne — Terry Christensen of Fort Dodge, Ia., and Doug Barry of Battle Creek, Neb., are recipients of scholarships from the Lincoln Mutual Life Insurance Company, presented annually to athlete-scholars at Wayne State College.

Christensen, a senior majoring in business, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Christensen, 1315 Fifth Avenue North; Barry a senior majoring in biology, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Barry, Battle Creek.

Damages To Crane Said High

Damages resulting from the crash of a 25-ton crane in downtown Lincoln were estimated at more than $60,000 Wednesday.

The crane toppled over Tuesday afternoon injuring one man and crashing into a hotel cafe.

Cranes from four other construction sites in Lincoln were brought to the scene, but they were unable to right the fallen vehicle. The 80-foot boom finally had to be cut in half to clear the street.

The mishap occurred at the construction site of the new 20-story First National Bank building at 13th and M Sts. The crane, valued at $80,000, is owned by Kenneth Clark, 1532 Washington, and was being leased by ABC Electric Co.

The crane's operator, Carson B. Nixon, 41, of Firth, said the 80-foot crane was being used to unload reinforcing bars from a trailer, and that an approximate five-ton load was being raised when the crane started to "drift to the right" and fell.

The injured man, William Whitmer, 32, vice-president of ABC Electric Co. was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital where he underwent emergency surgery for the amputation of his right hand.

Whitmer's condition Wednesday was described as "fairly good."

Nixon was taken to the Lincoln Clinic where his right leg was X-rayed for possible fractures.

The operator said he remained in the cab as the crane fell, and that Whitmer apparently fell or jumped from the vehicle and was pinned.

Police said all four outriggers were touching ground but were not extended when the accident occurred.

First Vaccine For Flu Said Already Sold

A Lincoln wholesale drug company has already sold all of its first shipment of vaccine to combat the new Hong Kong flu, according to a spokesman for the firm.

He said that the vaccine was sold to local drugstores, where it will be sold to physicians on a nonreturnable basis.

The shipment was small and the company is waiting for another allocation soon.

Another wholesale drug company expects its first shipment of the drug by the beginning of next week, an official said.

The shipment will contain only 36 vials, or medicine for 360 shots, he said. Another shipment is expected by the beginning of the year.

Vaccine has also arrived in Omaha, according to a drug company representative there. He said weekly allocations would be sent to them.

Neither Lincoln nor Omaha has had any proven Hong Cong flu cases.

No Proven Cases Of Flu Reported In Lincoln Area

There have been no proven cases of the new Hong Kong flu in the Lincoln area, according to Dr. George R. Underwood, director of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Department.

He said the disease should appear in Lincoln sometime this winter but no flu cases have been proven to be the Hong Kong variety in Lancaster County so far.

The four Lincoln hospitals reported rather high occupancy rates, but officials said that they had not heard of any cases of Hong Kong flu.

Winnebago Man Pleads Guilty To Manslaughter

Aberdeen, S.D. (AP) — Edward White Eagle, 40, of Winnebago, Neb., pleaded guilty Wednesday in Brown County Court to a charge of second degree manslaughter.

The charge was filed in connection with the death of Leonard Heberer of Aberdeen. Neberer's body was found Sept. 19 in an Aberdeen hotel room which had been shared by the pair.

White Eagle had previously pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Judge Philip Hall delayed sentencing pending an investigation by the department of pardons and paroles.

Police Seek Fugitive Eldridge Cleaver

San Francisco (AP) — Police hunted Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver as a fugitive Wednesday, amid speculation he may have fled the country, after the Negro militant failed to keep a date for return to prison.

The 33-year-old author and Panther minister of information was declared a wanted man in an all-points arrest bulletin 1½ hours after he was due to surrender as a parole violator.

Cleaver had stated that he would not show up for return to prison. His wife, Kathleen, had said her husband should use "every means necessary" to avoid a return to prison.

Parole Revoked

Convicted of assault with intent to kill and assault with a deadly weapon in Los Angeles in 1958, Cleaver was sentenced to 13 years and was paroled in 1966. But the parole was revoked by the California Adult Authority after an Oakland shootout with police in which a Negro youth was killed last April. Cleaver was charged with assault with attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

At 9 a.m. Wednesday, when Cleaver was to report, his wife and his white attorney, Charles R. Garry, entered the State Building in downtown San Francisco. They said Cleaver's whereabouts were unknown to them, and that they last saw him Sunday.

Mrs. Cleaver was asked if her husband had left the country. She said he was in the Bay area.

But the California Corrections Department was passed information that Cleaver might have been aided by an underground to leave the country.

To 'Keep Cool'

A spokesman for the State Patrol Division said police "would keep their cool and not rush in" to grab the Pantehr leader. He indicated Cleaver would be given every opportunity to surrender peaceably.

On Tuesday U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall swept aside without comment Cleaver's petition, which claimed his parole had been revoked over his political beliefs.

In San Francisco a few hours later, Panther cofounder Bobby Seale called Marshall "a nigger pig" and "bootlicker for the white pig establishment."

Tuesday, Cleaver failed to show up for his eighth guest lecture on the Berkeley campus of the University of California -- a lecture series which a month ago touched off statewide controversy and a violent demonstration. About 400 students waited an hour for him. Mrs. Cleaver appeared and said she did not know where he was.

Plan To Bolster Franc OKd

Paris (AP) — The Gaullist-controlled chamber of deputies endorsed early Thursday President Charles de Gaulle's program for taking pressure off the French franc and staving off devaluation.

By a vote of 391 to 91, the legislators approved a bill that the ministry of economy and finance says will shave between $1.06 billion and $1.08 billion from the government's original 1969 budget. That would cut the planned budget deficit from $2.34 billion to between $1.26 billion and $1.27 billion.

While the lawmakers debated the program Wednesday, the franc weakened slightly in the money market and Frenchmen looked forward to likely rising prices.

Not Unexpected

Approval of the bill, introduced Tuesday by Premier Maurice Couve de Murville, was a foregone conclusion. Gaullists and their allies hold about 353 seats in the 486-seat upper house of the legislature. The lower house, the senate, will vote on it, too, but its power can be overridden by the chamber of deputies.

By government request, the bill was voted on as a whole, eliminating article-by-article debate and possible bothersome amendments. Four deputies were absent during the balloting.

Some Gaullists were reported willing to support amendments softening De Gaulle's cuts in government expenditures, but not willing to vote against the bill as a whole. What minor opposition there was came most from the Communist and other leftist minorities.

Favor Exports

The bill was aimed at adjusting taxes and charges to favor exports and restrict domestic buying so that France can pay its way in international trade and not be forced into devaluation later.

Government officials believe the new measures will bring a 1.5 to 2% rise in the cost of living, but estimates from businessmen and union leaders ranged from 2 to 3%.

Business leaders were cautious about predicting the eventual over-all effects of the government plan. Each was carefully studying how his business would be affected, and the impact varied widely in different sectors.

Outcome Unknown

The independent newspaper Le Monde said: "The start, with back to the wall, is good. But it will not be known for several months whether the nation has won 'the battle of the franc.' "

In the Paris exchange market, the U.S. dollar and Swiss franc were both stronger in relation to the franc. The price of gold went up in line with continued demand. Frenchmen normally turn to gold as a hedge against inflation.

The franc was quoted at 4.95675 to one dollar against 4.95475 Tuesday. The change was slight, but it reversed the trend of the past two days when the franc was firming.

Clayton Emal's Rites At Minden

Minden — Funeral services for Clayton L. Emal, 63, public works commissioner for Minden since 1950, will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Christian Church. He died Monday at his office.

Mr. Emal had been in charge of the famed Christmas courthouse lighting in Minden for many years.

Stock Market's Gain Irregular

New York (AP) — The stock market carved out another gain Wednesday — an irregular one — because the widely quoted Dow Jones industrial average took a loss.

The closely watched average of 30 blue-chip industrials fell 3.17 to 976.32.

Analysts called it profit taking on blue chips, whose gains had pushed the average to new highs for the year on two successive sessions. This was to be expected, they said, especially in view of market closings Thursday for Thanksgiving Day and the usual practice for many Wall Streeters to take Friday off after a Thursday holiday. Many investors evened up their positions.

Such veteran analysts as Eugene E. Peroni, vice president of McDonnell & Co., and Larry Wachtler, head of the news desk at Bache & Co., expressed confidence that the Dow industrials would hit the elusive goal of 1,000 within the reasonable future — the only question being "When?"

Other market indicators made new highs. More stocks rose than fell on the New York Stock Exchange.

Volume was 16.55 million shares compared with 16.36 million Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .8 to 365.2, a new high for the year, with industrials up .1 and rails up 1.7 — both to new 1968 highs — while utilities dipped .3.

Of 1,584 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 776 rose, and 586 fell. New highs for the year totaled 185 and new lows two.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 23 cents to $60.91 and Standard & Poor's 500 stocks index gained .50 at 107.76. Both of these broad indexes made historic highs, having run up quite a series of them recently.

Nine of the 15 most-active stocks rose, and 6 fell.

Getty Oil was the most-active stock, off 87¾ at 90¾ on 203,100 shares. It was boosted to the top by a late bloc of 195,900 shares.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Echange. Volume was 7.72 million shares compared with 7.67 million Tuesday.

Fed Cattle Are Steady At Omaha

Omaha (AP) — Good demand for post-holiday needs, coupled with moderate to light supplies, sparked a fully steady trade on fed cattle at Omaha Wednesday.

Best demand still centered on choice and better steers and heifers, and the light preholiday consist showed a fairly attractive level of quality.

Cows and bulls were little changed in quiet trading, cows making up a full 25% of the run.

Key to this week's market has been a strong demand for choice and prime cattle. Weight, as such, was not a price determining factor, although some cattle which carried a little feedlot mud may have run into a degree of resistance. Plainer cattle were slower in clearing and, had supplies been heavier, could have turned lower. Generally, however, the three-day trade shaped up fully 25 cents higher as compared with last week's close, the full advance on the preferred kinds.

The top ticket on fed heifers Wednesday inched up to another seasonal peak and was the highest here since April, 1966. A load of reputation-fed hefty 1,103 lb. heifers brought $27.85.

Three loads of choice to prime 1,125-1,175 lb. steers ranged to 28.75.

Good shipping demand backgrounded a firm to 25 cents higher trade on hogs, most gains accounted for by butchers under 240 lbs.

Bulk 190-240 lb. barrows and gilts sold at $18-18.75.

Wheat Futures' Advance Curbed

Chicago (AP) — Wheat futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, but a late wave of liquidation for profit cut the advantage by more than one-half.

The advance in wheat futures tended to influence higher prices for other grain and soybeans futures, but there was only token selling of these commodities at the close.

A trade report out of Canada was the principal factor in the buying of wheat shortly after the opening. The report stated that there was a strong possibility a portion of Canada's 1968 wheat crop might emerge damaged from storage next spring because it was quite damp when put away this fall.

At the close, wheat was ¼ to ⅞ cents a bushel higher, December 1.30¼; corn was ¼ to ¾ higher, December 1.16⅜; oats were ¼ to ⅜ higher, December 72 cents; rye was ¾ to 1¼ higher, December 1.17½; and soybeans were ¼ lower to ⅞ higher, January 2.59⅝.

Coal Mine Situation Not Too Optimistic

Mannington, W. Va. (AP) — A coal company president said Wednesday a bad atmosphere, "too severe for any human to survive," had developed in the burning mine where 78 men have been trapped for more than a week.

"The situation isn't terribly optimistic," Consolidation Coal Co. President John Corcoran told a mid-afternoon news conference.

The men have been entombed since early on Nov. 20 when an explosion and fire ripped through Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine. The other 21 men on the midnight shift escaped.

Monoxide, Methane

Corcoran said every air sample taken from several passageways through long tubes pushed down deep borings into the tunnels had been analyzed and showed a highly content of carbon monoxide and deadly methane gas. One sample showed methane to be five times human toleration and the carbon monoxide 50 times the limit.

There has been no contact with any of the trapped men in the nearly eight days they have been pinned in the mine where fire still rages out of control.

Corcoran ruled out the use of foam in trying to bring the deep fire under control.

Foam Control

"Foam is only effective if you can control the direction properly," he said. "It can't be controlled in the mine and the injection of foam, because of the force needed to get it into the mine, would change the atmosphere in the mine and cause further explosions."

The latest blast — the 14th since the initial explosion last Wednesday — shuddered through the pits Tuesday and blew smoke from one of the mine's portals.

Corcoran did not comment on any decision to seal the mine-closing all entrances, portals and air shafts to extinguish the fire. Such a move would spell death for any survivors in the tunnels because it would cut off their oxygen supply.

Governor-elect Arch Moore Jr., visited the disaster scene Wednesday, talked with some of the trapped men's relatives and said he believed the mine was safe before the first explosion.

"As a coal miner, I would have worked in that mine," he said.

He said reports "showed we had some adverse comment but, on balance, they also showed the mine was not unsafe at that time."

Sexology Clinic Asks Cutback In Advertising

Moscow (AP) — A Moscow sexology clinic has attracted so many patients in the past few years that its management has asked the Soviet press to stop "advertising" it.

The biggest problem at the clinic is "perfectly healthy" people who come to make sure thay are normal, the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta said Wednesday.

The newspaper advised its readers that patients now cannot be admitted unless they have proper documentation from a doctor.

CATTLE TRUCK . . . involved in fatal collision.

Juniata Man, Son Killed In Crash

Juniata (UPI) — A rural Juniata man and his 7-year-old son were killed Wednesday evening when their auto collided with a cattle truck 2½ miles northwest of here at a county road intersection. The truck driver and a passenger were injured.

Adams County Atty. William Connolly identified the victims as Waldo Ruhter, 45, and his son, Warren, 7. The driver of the truck, Richard Burr Sr., 54, and a passenger, Richard Britain, 21, both of Juniata, were listed in good condition at Mary Lanning Hospital at Hastings.

The accident raised the state traffic fatality count for the year to 415, compared with 396 in 1967.

Since the collision occurred at 5:15 the deaths were not counted in the Thanksgiving holiday death count which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

East German Regime Accused Of Murder

Bonn, Germany (AP) — The United States accused the East German regime Wednesday of murder in the death of a 16-year-old boy who was left to bleed to death in a minefield while trying to flee to West Germany.

The death of the youth near Coburg Tuesday "is another reminder that the regime in East Germany continues to use every means, including murder, to oppress its subjects and perpetuate itself in power," U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said in a statement.

"The United States condemns this latest murder and declares that the mines and other obstacles to free movement should be removed from the demarcation line."

'Feeling Shared'

The statement said that the British and French embassies "share the feelings expressed by the American ambassador."

The youth's attempt to flee was one of the most dramatic in several years in the history of escapes from East Germany.

Lodge's message was the most strongly worded public statements on escapes issued here by the Western allies in recent years.

Boy Called Out

The boy, whose identity is not known, shouted for help for two hours before he died. According to West German border policemen he repeatedly shouted:

"I am only 16 years old. I don't want to die yet. Take me to a hospital. Both my legs are gone."

West German government spokesman Guenter Diehl told a news conference that West German border guards tried to help the youth but could not because they did not know the exact location of the mines.

The West German cabinet said the use of minefields on the border was "inhuman and barbaric."

Progressive Czech Weekly Can Resume

Prague — The Czechoslovak government Wednesday authorized Reporter, the progressive weekly to resume publication immediately as a result of negotiations with the Union of Journalists.

The outspoken magazine, published by the journalists' union and frequently critical of both the Soviet Union and hard-line Czechoslovak Communists, was suspended on Nov. 8 for four weeks, two days before the closing of Politika, the weekly ideological journal of the Communist Party.

In another development, Radio Prague said, without explanation, that "private trips in personal cars" to the Soviet Union by Czechoslovak citizens would no longer be allowed.

The Prague radio said that according to information from customs officials at Visne Nemecke "travel to the Soviet Union on private trips in personal cars" has not been allowed since Tuesday.

Visne Nemecke is the principal road crossing point between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union.

Lincoln Woman Is Raped; Police Seeking Assailant

Lincoln police were searching for a man who forcibly raped a 26-year-old Lincoln woman early Wednesday morning.

Lincoln police said they were seeking a young man who entered the woman's car and forced her to drive approximately three miles south of Lincoln where he raped her.

Police said they are considering her assailant dangerous since he was armed with a knife at the time of the assault.

The woman was taken to a local hospital where she was treated for minor bruises and cuts and released, a police spokesman said.

5 Are Arrested In Police 'Raid' On Lincoln House

Three men and two women were arrested early Wednesday morning by Lincoln detectives on suspicion of operating a disorderly house.

The arrest took place at 604 No. 23rd after information was received at police headquarters from an anonymous caller.

Police said the "raid" netted a parole violator and two women suspected of pandering.

Wealth Too Much

Nyiregyhaza, Hungary (AP) — Becoming a millionaire, Hungarian style, killed Janos Morazzki, an elderly bricklayer, the local hospital reported. It said death resulted from his over-excitement on winning 1,783,000 forints ($60,000) in the national lottery.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

In 1815 Napoleon was exiled to St. Helena. To forestall any rescue attempt, the British based a naval garrison on Ascension Island, 800 miles away, and regulary patrolled the neighboring waters.

The Comedie Francaise, established in 1680, is the oldest national theater in the world.

The modern Olympic Games were revived in 1896.

According to protocol, only the President of the United States and the Vice President outrank a governor in his own state.

More American were killed in action at the Battle of Gettysburg in 1863 than in the Revolutionary War.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R

Here is a practial little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
